Dear Mr. Piette:

I've given up on the phone. I received a $100.00 cheque from the Toronto Sun, also many nice letters from Ontario, mentioning Peter Worthington's support. I am concerned about the cheque: is it from you for articles to be done or for articles I have already done? Money is always welcome as this one woman-campaign against the constitution is an expensive affair. I have considered your offer of the possibility of running a column. Once on the constitution could probably be done in a series of three, continued articles - might sell some newspapers.

In the future I would think it fun to do a Sunday column - one a week. I would want to obtain the copyright. You suggest a cent a word, I might settle for 2 ¢ retaining the privilege of going on strike for higher wages if the column is any good. There would be no reproduction rights at that price. I realise Mr. Trudeau has recently been slapping the wrists of your newspaper chain - very funny he didn't investigate combines at the time of the malgamation, but instead is choosing to do it now.

Enclosed is the first draft of a constitutional article for your acceptance or rejection. My phone # is 253-8686.

Sincerely,

enc.
