

DIRECTIONS FOR COPYING LETTERS, &c.,
WITH WATERLOW & SONS'
PATENT COPYING PRESSES.

After writing the Letter to be copied, do not dry it with blotting paper, as it sucks up the ink, and makes the copy faint or imperfect.

TO PREPARE THE PAPER.—Take the number of leaves required (a leaf for each page), and lay an Oiled Sheet under them; wet them well with the Damping Brush; take off the overplus with the Drying Paper (the paper only requiring to be moistened, no water lying on it). One or more Letters may be copied at once, for example, after damping the paper, place an oiled sheet on the left-hand side of the book with a wet leaf upon it, then the first letter; place another oiled sheet as before, and so on for any number of letters; then copy them all at once. Letters of two or more pages can be copied at one operation, but in this case the pages of the letter will be reversed in the Book, it is therefore advisable to copy each page separately.

The Screw of the Press should be occasionally cleaned with a piece of string, worked in the thread, and then oiled with fresh sweet oil. If this is neglected, the dirt will accumulate and harden, and cause a strain upon the beam, which sometimes leads to fracture.
