leadership training and nutrition education in the South Pacific, Asia, Africa, Malasia and Zambia.

The program for the evening was "Going Metric." The three basic metric units of weight, length and mass or volume (the gram, metre and litre) were explained with illustrations of each.

A question and answer period was held and simple problems were solved using the metric units. For lunch, cookies and a cake were made from metric recipes.

The hostess prize was won by Mrs. Vera Pierce.

Roy and Marion Brown joined 30 other Alberta W.I. members and husbands on the F.W.I.C. 1976 Maritimes Fly-Bus Tour June 11-July 4, 1976. Mr. and Mrs. Brown joined the tour one day late in Toronto after attending their daughter, Debra's June 11th graduation from the Red Deer College Nursing Program.

The bus tour covered the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, P.E.I. and Nova Scotia. A highlight of the tour for Roy and Marion included a visit to the Isle of Orleans. Here they were able to view the DALLAIRE memorial, dedicated to Marion's paternal ancestors who arrived on this very land in 1658 from France.

As well as a wonderful tour of Eastern Canada and attendance at the National Convention, the friendships that were established gave Women's Institutes a greater purpose and meaning.

A successful telephone whist and card party was held on January 15 with 24 tables in play. The Grand High winners were Mr. John Warke, and Mrs. Eric Pierce. Consolation prizes went to Mr. Bud Munns and Mrs. Percy Herbert. The net proceeds are to go to the Red Deer Museum.

A donation of $35.00 was made to the Heart Fund.

The branch will renew its sponsorship of the Howell's Lake Cub Pack in order that they may retain their charter.

A box of Red Cross sewing and wool for afghans was received and distributed. Wool was also distributed for knitting gifts for Northern Missions, a project of the Red Cross society.

The program for the evening was Handicraft with redesign as a theme. On display, and for inspection were articles made from scrap material and discarded household items, for example a carrying bag, for school books, made from denim scraps; a dressing gown from fortrel scraps; an apron from cotton scraps; a flower vase from a one gallon plastic bottle; a wall plaque from tin cans and flowers from plastic egg cartons and from gingham scraps.

W.I. coffee mugs and saucers were given to each member in good standing in 1976, in recognition of the branch's 20th anniversary.

The hostess prize was won by Mrs. John Sawyer, by Mrs. C. Lawrence

The April meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Clutton with Mrs. Eric Pierce and Mrs. John Warke as co-hostesses. The Roll call was answered by each member wearing an old hat and telling its story. A donation by each member to the Cancer Fund netted $72.

The last Family Swim Night of the season was held April 15th at Michener Centre.

be held on June 8th at the Community Centre.

In recognition of "Pitch-In '77", the new name chosen for Anti-Litter Week, the Branch will present a program of slides at the Community Centre on May 14th, aimed at reducing litter in the community.

For five years perfect attendance, coffee spoons were presented to Mrs. J. Sawyer, Mrs. L. Munro, Mrs. A. Moschenross and Mrs. C. Lawrence.

The topic for the evening program was Agriculture given by Mrs. J. Sawyer. She read an interesting paper on Bees Wax and Honey outlining how these items have been used since 3500 B.C. Bees' Wax played an important part in early man's religious superstitions.

The peculiar mixture of both physical and chemical characteristics of bees' wax make it suitable for many industrial and non-industrial uses for which, in most cases, no substitute is available.

A short paper was also read on the newest source of energy - solar energy. by Mrs. C. Lawrence

Institutes can tell story of agriculture

By LIZ DELAHEY

OLDS (Staff)—Women's Institutes should take the lead in telling the story of agriculture so consumers don't continue to expect cheap food, Vera MacDonald told delegates here.

She was one of several speakers to offer challenges and congratulations to the 342 members taking part in the Alberta Women's Institute convention May 30-June 2 which broke previous attendance records.

W's wield influence with government because they represent a strong united contact with rural people, the Alberta Agriculture home economics head said, and she urged the association to become the champion of the rural cause to make sure the farmer's interests are represented because the government no longer has a rural background.

Pointing out that Canadians only pay 18-20 percent of their income for food while in other parts of the world as much as 80 percent is required, she asked, "Is it fair for others to benefit at the expense of the farmer?"

Canadians can afford to buy large homes, skidoos, boats and second cars because they get cheap food at the farmer's expense, she charged.

Mrs. MacDonald said the reason AWI has been able to get government grants is because the organization represents a force for good in society. It would be impossible to hire a social service to carry on the many acts of kindness and compassion carried out by members and branches.

She said she was encouraged to hear some delegates requesting programs on home careers and the conserver society and she urged areas which had not already done so to conduct workshops on family finance. Money management and lack of communication are often the cause of marriage breakdown, which is expected to reach the ratio of one breakdown in every three marriages by 1980, she said.

It was a homecoming for another banquet speaker, Martha Bielish of Warspite, Alta. She was rewarded with a standing ovation. The former AWI president is now Federated Women's Institutes of Canada president.

The office gives a national perspective Mrs. Bielish said, describing programs in other provinces she had visited. Craft schools are available for Newfoundland's 1500 members where a craft can be mastered and then taught in the home community.

A special guest who generated considerable interest was Nora Jackson of Fort McPherson, N.W.T., a small community which can only be reached by air. Her 12 member branch is made up of Loucheux Indians and herself.

Asked about the Berger report, which recommended a 10 year delay on oil pipeline construction in the MacKenzie River valley, she said there is mixed reaction to its findings in her community because of the lack of jobs.

One new branch formed and two new girls clubs organized show an encouraging growth pattern said AWI president Bette Ballhorn of Wetaskiwin in her report. Interviewed later she said convention workshops had drawn the crowds.

"It's a chance to learn and a chance to socialize," she said, expressing pleasure at the number of younger people in attendance. "And they're not here just to get away from the kids for a couple of days, they're here to work."

ACWW CONVENTION

MARTHA BIELISH
President
Federated Women's Institutes of Canada

"Come, see and you will never forget," were the words spoken by Jane Kiano, the Maendeleo ya Wanawake member from Kenya at the Perth conference in 1974, when issuing the invitation for the 15th triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World. Who could ignore that challenge and resist that invitation? Delegates came from many countries, from all parts of the globe. And true to Mrs. Kiano's promise no one was denied entry!

Looking back, what made this conference unique and why has it made such a terrific impact upon those of us fortunate enough to attend?

Perhaps at the outset there was a combination of apprehension about going to Africa in unsettled times, combined with eager anticipation and the challenge to "come and see". It was also the first time that ACWW met in Africa, and the first time they met in a developing country where the majority of people are of a racial and cultural background different from our own. There was so much to learn, to see, to taste, to hear and to experience.

A session, with a difference, called Dialogue was under the direction of ACWW's UN committee. Only one member per society was permitted to attend. Members from developing countries discussed their problems and placed their requests for assistance directly on the table to be picked up by those who could assist. It was here that I met the Lesotho delegate and heard first hand that the Landrover FWIC had provided following the Oslo conference was in the garage waiting for repairs more often than it was on the road. After a quick poll of the Canadian delegates, FWIC agreed to provide a new Landrover so that the homemaker and nutrition education programs in the more remote areas may continue.

Save the Land Harambee is a program sponsored by National Council of Women, (30 women's organizations in Kenya) to push back the desert by planting trees, shelterbelts and windbreaks and to keep the rivers blue. We were invited to plant a tree, or have a tree planted. I responded for FWIC with an order for a long living protected Mguma tree and for my home WI branch, I selected a beautiful flowering Jacaranda. For $3 in United States currency or the Canadian equivalent a tree is planted and care ensured for five years.

I think this involvement will continue. Nationally, we are committed to providing the Landrover and I expect the first thing local branches will ask "How can we help?" Some will want to have a tree planted, and others will choose to contribute toward wells and water lines to villages. These will help make the lives of people in developing countries easier and more tolerable. Through reports and stories and letters the links in that chain of friendship that binds us together will be reinforced and strengthened as we continue to build bridges of understanding around the world.

Lightening the burden

Representatives of rural women's organizations attended the Associated Country Women of the World conference held in Nairobi Kenya in October. Leaders of Western Canadian organizations have been asked to consider the impact of the conference on themselves and the effect they expect it will have on their organizations.

The concept of women around the world working to lighten each others burdens presents a unique Christmas message.

BETTE BALLHORN
President
Alberta Women's Institutes

The privilege of attending the 15th triennial conference in Nairobi, Kenya will be the highlight of my term as president of the Alberta Women's Institutes.

Working together in the International Decade for Women 1976-1985 was to me a most impressive session as we listened to first chairman, Dr. Julia Ojiambo MP followed by a panel giving first hand information on help they had received through the ACWW.

The study sessions unfortunately had to be missed by those of us required to attend conference meetings. However, I was able to attend the Dialogue session where there was an excellent exchange between developed and developing countries.

At their June 1977 convention, Alberta Women's Institutes had stated they wished to help with water for Kenya. Through this session we were able to meet personally with the African women who are striving so desperately to make "water in every home in Kenya by year 2000" a reality long before that time. Contacts established will be pursued. For Albertans this was a major achievement, the start for next years project.

It was also my good fortune to contact a leader from the Gilbert and Ellice Islands where Alberta members had contributed so generously to the UNESCO Gift Coupon 569 in 1977.

Those attending the conference were hosted and shown the sides of African life not generally seen by the average tourist, their schools, churches and missions, training schools, hospitals and home hospitality. The government were also most generous with their hospitality. We were taken out into the countryside to villages where tree planting ceremonies took place. They have an ongoing project that for every tree cut down, five seedlings will be planted. We were also able to purchase a tree in the name of our organization which will be planted in a green belt and cared for, for five years.

The conference to me was very well organized, excellent speakers on very timely topics. The host country made one feel really welcome and organizers went out of their way to provide everything possible for our enjoyment.

The one disappointment was that Canada was not chosen as the next host country — but there is always a next time.

Rae Roe of Australia, left, was elected president of the Associated Country Women of the World for the next three years; Ellen McLean, right, past president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada is Canada's new area vice-president. Deputy presidents are Mrs. Z. Westehring-Muller of Holland and Mrs. I. K. Wood of New Zealand.

Country women see two

By ELIZABETH LEFSRUD

NAIROBI, Kenya — Jambo (hello) from the City of Sunshine! Over 1000 delegates and observers representing more than eight million members from 76 countries came to the 15th Triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World held here Oct. 11-21, 1977.

Speaking on the conference theme Building for Tomorrow, ACWW President Olive Farquharson of England said in her opening address: "We are the voice of the country women in the councils of the world, and ACWW women, with practical knowledge to share with each other are becoming more and more aware of the tremendous potential they have in planning and building for the future."

She stressed that in our rapid process of development, in trying to solve the real underlying issues which cut across create a new framework, a new understanding, and a closer relationship.

The aim of ACWW from the beginning, she said, was to improve the standard of living for women and their families; but as a bird needs two wings to fly, so both men and women are needed — to work together for the benefit of the family and society.

First time in Africa

It was the first time an ACWW Conference was held in Africa and the two hosting societies Maendeleo ya Wanawake (Women's Progress) and the East Africa Women's League made every effort to welcome the visitors. Bright traditional costumes, tribal singing and dancing added to the hospitality.

The Kenyans also showed their countryside — parched land in need of water, children not able to carrying heavy loads of firewood, sisal or water on their backs or heads, and homes in desolate squallor. The delegates were squarely faced with the inequalities of the world.

It resulted in some direct action. One of the new features of the conference was a dialogue on the new realities of partnership where a frank exchange of ideas, problems and possible solutions took place.

The outcome was a list of needs in different countries (mostly Third World) which societies could choose to fill. Canadian groups pledged their support. The National Farmer's Union agreed to help Kenya reach its target of 10 million trees planted by 1979. Federated Women's Institutes will supply a Landrover for extension work in Lesotho; Alberta Women's Institutes will for Kenya; Prince Edward Island WI $500 for training

In answer to the roll call, 30 gifts were donated to the Canadian Mental Health Association to be given to residents of Michener Centre for Christmas.

Candy bags for the annual Christmas Tree will be filled and practicing will be done for the program.

The annual Christmas supper was a success with 57 persons attending, including a number of guests. The Bingo for the children and cards and crokinole for the grown-ups provided an enjoyable evening.

The annual home-made jelly project has been successfully completed.

Program books for 1978, for which a cash donation will be taken, will be completed and passed out at the next meeting.

The members agreed to raise the membership dues to 50¢ per person per year.

12" broadcloth squares were handed out to be embroidered with members names and made into a friendship quilt.

Meetings during January, February and March will be held in the afternoon instead of the evening.

During lunch, passages from J.G. MacGregor's book "Northwest of Sixteen" were read. These described events in the lives of settlers in the Westlock area in the early 1900's.

Pine Lake W.L. Report

The January meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Beck with 15 members and 3 visitors present.

Two letters and gifts (tablecloth and tea towel) were received from the Haden Branch of the Country Women of Australia. In the letters they described Christmas in Australia, some of the customs and foods prepared. Also mentioned was the grave concern felt in agricultural circles because of the prolonged drought. The main producing states are Queensland, New South Wales and Victoria.

Four workshops are planned for the Pine Lake Area.

- (1) Home Maintenance or "Mrs. Fix-it."
- (2) Yoga classes.
- (3) Basket Weaving.

(4) Furniture finishing. The Branch has, very reluctantly, decided to discontinue the monthly Family Swim Night because of lack of sufficient support.

Eight autographed squares were handed in for the Friendship Quilt.

The Program was Handicraft and the speaker was Mrs. W.D. Smith. Because of lack of time she was not able to give her demonstration of spinning, but did show a number of samples of spun wool, and two articles made from the spun wool which had been woven.

During lunch, a tape was prepared to be sent to the Haden Branch in Australia. Each member told of the highlights of their family's activities during the Christmas season.

Mrs. C. Lawrence

Pine Lake WI

The February meeting of the Pine Lake Womens Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Chris Lawrence with 12 members and one visitor present. Vice-president Mrs. J. Olson conducted the meeting.

Mrs. W. D. Smith continued the demonstration begun last month by showing samples of animal and plant fibre suitable for spinning. She explained the art of dyeing wool using natural and artificial dyes and allowed members to try their skill at spinning raw wool on a simple spindle as well as a spinning wheel.

A telephone whist party was arranged to raise money for the Heart Association and the "Water Well for Kenya," a project being undertaken through FWIC and ACWW.

Members agreed to send $35 to the heart fund.

A furniture refinishing workshop is being held in the Pine Lake Community Centre April 3-6 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

A pre-planning meeting for the basketry course was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Brown with sessions to be held Wednesdays and Thursdays for three weeks beginning March 8.

A home maintenance workshop was held recently at the Pine Lake Community Centre. March 3 Mrs. Fix-it

Program for the meeting was health, given by Mrs. Gordon Beck whose topic was illness abroad. She explained how the International Association for Medical Assistance for Travellers (IAMAT) has compiled a directory listing services available throughout the world. For a small cost, extended coverage can be obtained through Alberta Health Commission and Blue Cross when travelling abroad.

The branch plans to take out membership in the Associated Country Women of the World.

Mrs. Fix It

The home maintenance course held in Pine Lake on March 3rd, 1978, (the coldest day in March), was designed to make Mrs. Fix Its out of all the ladies that attended. We all learned some slick tricks and had an opportunity to practice electrical repairs, plumbing, use of wall fasteners, and repair of vinyl flooring. There were demonstrations on wall papering, weatherstripping and furnace maintenance. We all had fun learning, but before we could get the workshop underway, we needed the help of a Mr. Fix It. Special thanks to Mr. Herman Dreeschen and his son for helping us get a frozen lock unstuck. Without their help, we wouldn't have had heat in the Home Maintenance Trailer.

The morale of the story is: that it is important for women to be familiar with home maintenance but it is also very convenient when a Mr. Fix It is handy!! Herman Dreeschen

FASHIONS & FABRICS

This is the year of the Dress! The trend is toward the soft and feminine, full and flowing — in fabric, in design and in color. Softness is everywhere!!

Fabrics that drape and flow over the body without adding bulk are essential to conveying the message of femininity.

Pastels abound! Colors for Fashion '78 include: vanilla and ecru; mauve and lilac; nectarine, peach and shrimp; mint and jade; daffodil; baby pink and baby blue.

To top that new Spring outfit - consider Accessories '78. Jewelry does not play a major part in accessorizing. Clutch bags for classic looks and canvas totes for sporty occasions. Shoes feature either high or low heels; with nothing in between! Ankle straps will be seen to accessorize the feminine look.

For summer dressing '78, the key is soft, relaxed, totally feminine!

Farming chronicled by area WI

Area farm women have just completed a pictorial history of Central Alberta agriculture as part of a provincial program undertaken by the Women's Institute.

Marion Brown, past convener of the Red Deer Centre WI Constituency Association, says the 10 branches in this constituency started into the program last fall.

Collecting photographs depicting agriculture beginning in the 1890s and continuing to the present day, the women have put together two scrap books, each containing about 100 pictures.

"There are old pictures showing log sheds and straw roofs," says Mrs. Brown, a member of the Pine Lake branch of the WI.

"We have taken a look at agriculture from the very beginning to the present time."

The WI has tried as much as possible to concentrate the history on the changing role of women in agriculture.

"We have pictures showing women carrying water from houses when hand pumps were being used on most farms and others of women hanging out clothes."

Mrs. Brown says a woman's work has changed with the modernization of farming and farm homes. The history also shows that.

"Many of the chores women used to do have simply disappeared from the scene."

A total of 32 different constituencies in WI are involved in the program in various areas of the province.

When completed, the best pictures in each of the individual submissions will form the basis for a single book on the history of Alberta agriculture, says Mrs. Brown.

She says a provincial competition is also under way to choose the best presentation from among all the entries.

The Red Deer Centre entry finished, it has been sent to Edmonton for judging.

Mrs. Brown says the winner of the competition will be announced during the provincial convention of the WI at Olds College May 30 to June 1.

Convener of the history project, main constituency undertaking in the past year, was Beatrice Mayberry, convener of the WI's agriculture and Canadian industries committee.

Included in the Red Deer Centre constituency are the following branches: Balmoral, Blackfalds, Clearview, Highway, Hillsdown, Lacombe, Penhold, Pine Lake, Ridgewood and Springvale.

In the handicraft competition, the Springvale WI topped the standings, followed by Hillsdown and Pine Lake.

The individual award for handicrafts in the under 70 age group went to Lorraine Douglas of the Penhold WI.

Meantime, Carrie Shaw of the Lacombe WI had the most points for women older than 70 and received that award.

The Highway WI received the Doris E. Beckingsale Memorial Knitting Award, which goes to the club accumulating the greatest number of points in all knitting classes.

A new award, it is given in the memory of Mrs. Beckingsale. A long-time member of the Pine Lake WI, she died last summer.

This award will be presented annually over the next 10 years.

Among the guest speakers were Beryl Ballhorn, district 3 director, as well as Kathryn Habberfield, provincial second vice-president of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Ballhorn spoke on the responsibility women have not only to the organization, but also to their communities.

Mrs. Habberfield stressed the importance of homemaking and the importance of a mother's love in creating family stability.

In the election of officers, Mrs. Doris Warke of Innisfail, member of the Pine Lake WI, has been named to a three-year term as constituency convener.

Aid to Lesotho for Landrover

A Landrover to take health and nutrition programs to remote mountain regions of Lesotho will soon be a reality, Martha Bielish, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada announced recently.

Following an executive meeting held in Ottawa she said donations from the organization have been matched by grants from the Canadian International Development Agency. Contributions from members and branches of women's institutes across Canada came in following the Associated Country Women of the World conference held in Nairobi when it was learned that the Landrover in use was no longer road worthy. Mrs. Bielish volunteered FWIC support at that time.

Plans for the organization's triennial conference to be held in Saskatoon in June 1979 will focus on the International Year of the Child with a national child safety competition featured, the organization's release says.

Branches entering the child safety competition will be required to submit a kit outlining a program or promotion dealing with some aspect of child protection. Some of the areas suggested are the home, school, traffic water, fire, farm, drugs, alcohol, physical and mental abuse. The benefit to the child is to be highlighted and the ongoing value of the program will be assessed with FWIC given the rights to reproduce the kits for future use in schools or by voluntary organizations wishing to promote child safety. Awards of $100 for the first prize and $75 for second will be presented at the convention.

A report of a survey on women's work in rural Canada will be another program feature. The survey is a joint undertaking of the Council on Rural Development Canada and FWIC.

The FWIC executive protested the proposed termination of the CRDC due to government cutbacks. They say it will cut off direct contact with government for rural people and the opportunity for feedback from them.

Pine Lake W.I. members tour toy shop

PINE LAKE — Twenty members of the Pine Lake Women's Institute (WI), and a visitor gathered Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. J. Olson for the last meeting of 1978. Dec.

The 1979 WI executive was named as follows: Mrs. Glenn Clutton, president; Mrs. Chris Lawrence, secretary; and Mrs. Eric Pierce, treasurer.

The agriculture and Canadian industries convener is Mrs. Annie Allen; citizenship and education convener, Mrs. John Sawyer; and the handicrafts convener is Mrs. C. Bush.

Two interesting and educational tours were taken during the month, one to the toy factory at Markerville and the other to custom woolen mill at Carstairs.

A successful home-made jelly project has been concluded for this year.

Fifty-nine persons attended a family Christmas supper at the Pine Lake Community Centre Dec. 1. The youngest person in attendance was 11 days old. The oldest was 81.

A music workshop, covering techniques of basic choral singing, will begin Monday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. in the Pine Lake Community Centre. Mrs. Tina Miller will be instructing. Twenty-five cents per member will be forwarded to Alberta Women's Institute (AWI) provincial office to go toward the purchase of a Land Rover, (four-wheeled drive vehicle), for the use of Homemakers clubs in Lesotho, Africa. All members donated gifts for the Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA) to be distributed to residents at Schenker Centre, Red Deer.

A paper collecting project has netted 1,105 pounds of paper to be bundled paper will be received at the Pine Lake Community Centre Jan. 27.

The "Club Women's Creed" or the "Collect for Club Women" was written by Miss Mary Stewart in 1904. It was written as a prayer for the day, as Mary Stewart felt that women working together with wide interest, was something new under the sun and perhaps had a need for special petition and meditation on their own. It was officially adopted by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in 1920 and was read into the printed records of the Congress of the United States in 1940.

Thank You

PINE LAKE WI PARCELS PAPERS

If things work out, the Pine Lake Women's Institute plans to have a monthly newspaper and magazine pickup.

Finding its a first class way to make a few dollars for the WI's many charities, the Pine Lake society has had two successful paper drives and is hoping to schedule a regular shipment out the last Saturday of every month.

The paper will be recycled in several ways, including conversion to insulation.

Bundled paper is the easiest to handle.

Depot for this service is the Pine Lake Community Centre. The next packing off will be Jan. 27. For additional information call WI representatives at 886-4815 or 227-2062.

IYC LOGO

The official logo for the International Year of the Child, designed by Erik Jerichau of Denmark, depicts two embracing figures circled by the United Nations laurel leaves, symbolizing the relationship between adult and child.

The logo was chosen from 170 entries from 20 countries. Mr. Jerichau, 38, is a free-lance graphic designer living in Copenhagen.

Kahlil Gibran writes:

And a woman who held a babe against her bosom said, Speak to us of Children.
And he said:
Your children are not your children.
They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.
They come through you but not from you.
And though they are with you yet they belong not to you.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts.
You may house their bodies but not their souls.
For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.
You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you.
For life goes not backward nor tarnies with yesterday.

A toast to our husbands, On this winter night,
Our supper before us, The room warm and bright.
You are everything to us, You make worthwhile each day,
Whether we work or whether we play.
You give us humor if we should be mad,
You give us comfort when we are sad.
When we're in a bind, you come to our aid
Resourceful and helpful -- whatever our need.
You manage and work hard to make our life fun,
You schedule your work to keep us on time.
The car you have ready on W.I. night,
The motor running -- lights shining bright!
'Take care now, and don't be late.'
But you know we will be as we drive out the gate.

Now we say, 'Thank You' - on this one of your days,
In appreciation of all of your ways.
As we host you to supper we say loud and clear,
'A toast to our husbands, every day of the year!'

One husband, Harry Whittemore, donated a Pine Tree Spoon Holder. It was won by Gloria Watson by lucky draw.

Alta. WIs celebrate 70th anniversary

By LIZ DELAHEY

Alberta Women's Institutes should tackle new challenges members were told when they met in Olds May 28 to 31 to celebrate the organization's 70th anniversary.

Marie Plaizier, provincial president, told the convention the struggle is no longer to improve sanitary conditions and member's homes, as it was in founder Adelaide Hoodless' day, but to cope with affluence and the stress and strain that accompanies it.

Citing the frequent moves dictated to employees by corporate business as a cause of rootlessness, she said it can result in unacceptable behavior. Without an extended family nearby, there is no grandpa, grandma, aunt or uncle to relieve the day-to-day pressures of family living.

She challenged members to become involved and help young parents and their families develop ways to cope with stress. She called on them to react to needs in their communities and the needs of the times.

As an example she cited North Peace Retreats, which started in 1975 for homemakers but have since drawn in entire families. Monday to Friday sessions are held at intervals through the year in private homes or church board rooms with a psychologist and volunteers. Families having difficulties have a chance to talk out their problems.

side the meeting of how WIs could respond to community needs was the example of the Manitoba Women's Institute which has tried to curb vandalism by working on restitution committees to deal with juvenile offenders.

Wells for Kenya

Plaizier reported the $4000 donated by AWI for wells for Kenya was matched by the Alberta department of culture then sent on to the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada where CIDA matched it three to one. As a result, "Our sisters in Kenya will receive $32,000 to help them get water close to their village."

Elizabeth Lefsrud of Edmonton echoed the president's concerns.

Shortly after two WI members, Emily Murphy and Nellie McLung and the three other members of the famous five, Henrietta Edwards, Louise McKinney and Irene Parlbay began proceedings to prove women were persons. A young lawyer had declared Judge Emily Murphy's decisions at the bench invalid because she was not a person. It took 13 years to prove him wrong Lefsrud said. Oct. 18, 1920, almost 50 years ago, women were officially declared persons after it had been taken to the Privy Council of England when the Supreme Court of Canada turned it down.

The role of the WI during depression years was documented in Ontario Lefsrud said. Wherever there was an institute, there was no need for government relief.

Highlights from the past were part of Alberta Women's Institutes 70th anniversary celebrations. Seven of the 12 living past presidents returned to reminisce. Front row left to right are: Ruple Ferguson, Edmonton; Ruth Howes, Wetaskiwin and Myrtle Roberts Heyer, Drumheller. RAIGH ROE
... here from Australia

W.I. world president

Raigh Roe of Australia, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, will attend a reception at the Michener Centre in Red Deer March 13.

Mrs. Roe will be hosted by the Alberta Women's Institutes, which are members of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. The national body is in turn a branch member of the Associated Country Women of the World.

More than eight million women from 67 countries belong to the world organization.

Mrs. Roe is expected to recap her three-year term of office, which ends this year, during her Red Deer visit.

A farm woman married to Jim Roe, she was elected at the association's triennial world convention in Nairobi, Kenya in 1977.

During her stint as president, she worked out of an office donated to her by the Australian government. She will be replaced during the association's next world conference, slated for Hamburg, Germany in May. That will be the seventh world conference.

Marion Brown of Penhold, one of the organizers of Mrs. Roe's reception, said she expects about 250 W.I. members from across the province to attend.

During the reception there will be an opportunity to donate to the Pennies for Friendship fund, which supports the international organization and which has a head office in London, England.

One of the seven Associated Country Women of the World flags in existence will also be displayed at the reception. These seven handmade flags bear the association's insignia and were presented by the international body to seven areas in the world, including Canada. A special flag-raising ceremony will be held.

The first Women's Institute in Alberta was formed in 1909, and the Federated Women's Institute of Canada was formed in 1919 with Judge Emily Murphy of Edmonton as the first president.

Women's Institutes in Alberta contribute to adult education; are instrumental in organizing libraries, community halls and recreation; encourage the publication of local history books; and contribute to such organizations as Red Cross, the Cancer Society, and the Mental Health Association.

Alberta W.I. members also offer several annual scholarships and awards; participate in handicraft competitions; and have representation on provincial boards such as the Consumer Association of Canada.

There are 10 W.I. groups in the district.

FARM WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS HONORED

Alberta Women's Institutes and Women of Uniform are the privilege of hosting the Associated Country Women of the World President, Mrs. Raigh Roe, from Australia, Thursday, March 13, 1980 in Central Alberta.

A reception will be held in Red Deer at the Roland Michener Recreation Centre, 51st A Street and 38th A Avenue, 5:00 p.m. Pot Luck Supper. Ladies in Central Alberta are requested to bring the main dishes. Those travelling a distance are asked to bring a dessert. Coffee and buns will be supplied by Hostess Organizations.

Alberta Farm Women's Organizations are honored with this event and encourage all their members to attend.

There are 305 Societies that belong to Associated Country Women of the World, with over 8 million members. "Forward Together" will be the theme of the 1980 World Conference, slated for May 11 - 23 in Hamburg, West Germany. For further information on either event, please contact Mrs. Marion Brown, 886-4892.

Roe said the golden anniversary ACWW flag tour which is scheduled to wind up in Hamburg Germany during the May 11 to 23 conference is aimed at publicizing the organization and raising funds. It is hoped enough can be raised by touring eight flags through the 64 member countries to set up a $12 million capital fund. The interest from the fund could be used for administration and Pennies for Friendship currently used for administration costs could be freed for other projects, Roe said.

Delegates at the Hamburg conference will be asked to allow the funds raised to be used for this purpose, she said.

Roe who has completed three round the world trips this year completes her term in May.

World president makes first Canadian visit

Dame Raigh hosted by

By ELINOR FLORENCE
of The Advocate

The breakdown of the extended family is one of the most serious crises facing rural people in the developed countries today, according to Raigh Roe of Perth, Australia, president of the Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW).

Dame Raigh Roe, whose title was recently conferred by Queen Elizabeth, visited Red Deer Thursday night as a guest of the Alberta Women's Institutes and Women of Uniform, both member organizations of the ACWW.

The Associated Country Women of the World is the world's largest rural organization, with 8.5 million members in 64 countries.

About 300 Alberta W.I. and Women of Uniform members attended the pot luck dinner and reception at Michener Centre, including Women of Uniform president Leda Jensen and former national president of the Women's Institutes, Senator Martha Bielish of Edmonton.

Mrs. Roe, a farm wife and mother of three grown sons, said there is too much of the "I'm all right, Jack" attitude of non-involvement in Western society today.

She said during the 1980s more attention will be paid to the role of rural women in developed countries like Australia, Canada and the United States.

"The breakdown of the family with an accompanying drift — or should I say gallop — to urban centres leads to many pressures on young people," she said. "I have great sympathy for young adults today who have lost their support systems in the form of the extended family."

The extended family includes not only parents, but aunts, uncles, cousins and grandparents.

Mrs. Roe drew applause with her comments on day care centres, which she said are necessary only in some situations.

"But I don't believe the government should be providing child care centres for parents who simply prefer working," she said. "One of the parents, and I don't care which one, must be at home to provide the child with security and loving care."

"If a mother feels her contribution to the community is so great that she cannot discontinue working, she should wait to have a child or decide to remain childless."

Turning to the aims of the ACWW, Mrs. Roe said the association must attempt to forestall the impending situation where people don't get involved with their neighbors, "not because they don't care, but because they are afraid."

She said communities, both rural and urban, must replace the extended family by providing support to the individual.

Mrs. Roe met her husband during the Second World War and moved to a 4,000-acre farm in Western Australia, "never having seen a cow except in a picture book."

Through a government land plan to encourage farming, Jim and Raigh Roe built their holding to 16,000 acres and raised wheat, malting barley, sheep and Hereford cattle. Six years ago they gave each son some land, sold the remainder and retired to Perth.

"There is not the same rapport or understanding among neighbors in the city like there is in the country," Mrs. Roe said.

This is Mrs. Roe's first visit to Canada. She is en route to the association's administrative office in London, England, which supervises such programs as aid to developing countries, education, agriculture and family planning.

She was elected president at the 1977 triennial world conference of the ACWW and has spent much of her time in the past three years travelling to member countries and meeting rural women. Among her distinctions Mrs. Roe is also a Commander of the British Empire, a justice of the peace, and the only woman on the Western Australian Wheat Council.

She will be replaced as president at the 1980 world conference, slated for Hamburg, Germany in May.

Mrs. Roe said the aim of the world-wide organization is "caring and sharing," and added, "we must never give up hope for peace in the world."

She explained the design travels around the country reception.

Family break up 'serious crisis'

By ELINOR FLORENCE
RED DEER (Special) — The breakdown of the extended family is one of the most serious crises facing rural people in developed countries today, says Raigh Roe of Perth, Australia, president of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Dame Raigh Roe visited Red Deer March 13 as a guest of the Alberta Women's Institutes and Women of Unifarm, both member organizations of the ACWW.

The Associated Country Women of the World is the world's largest rural organization, with 8.5 million members in 64 countries.

Hon. Martha P. Bielish

The Hon. Martha Palamarek Bielish of Smoky Lake George Godel of Athabasca and Dobson Lea of Jarvie three Albertans with an outstanding record of service to agriculture, have been awarded the highest honor their peers can bestow, entrance to the Alberta Agriculture Hall of Fame.

Agriculture Minister Dallas Schmidt, when making the announcements, noted that each has made a worthy contribution to agriculture provincially, nationally and internationally while helping to improve rural life in their local communities.

Hon. Martha Palamarek Bielish, a dedicated humanitarian, has continuously worked to improve the quality of life, especially for those in rural areas. Active on a variety of committees and councils, she has made a special contribution to Women's Institutes. She served four years as provincial president, three years as national president, and has represented the organization at several international gatherings. In 1975 she was presented with the Woman of the Year award by the Alberta Women's Institute. Two years later she received the Queen's Jubilee Medal. As recognition for her work at the community, provincial and national level, she was appointed to the Canadian Senate in 1979.

W.I. delegates enjoy 60th annual conference in city

by Marjorie Smith

The 60th Conference of the Red Deer Centre Constituency of the Alberta Women's Institutes was held in the Stewart Room of the Red Deer Museum on Friday, April 25th, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Warke of the Pine Lake branch as Constituency Convener.

Special speakers were Mrs. Beryl Ballhorn, Wetaskiwin, Director of District No. 3, Mrs. Kay Rowbottom, Drumheller, Ist. Vice President of the Alberta Women's Institutes, and Mrs. Marion Brown, of the Pine Lake branch, and Provincial Convener of United Nations and Exchange Programs.

She encouraged women to correspond with branches of the Associated Country Women of the World in other countries, and spoke of her contacts with W.I. members in Australia and England and the exchange visits they had enjoyed.

Mrs. Kay Lawrence, Handicraft Convener, and a member of the Pine Lake branch, announced the results of the Handicraft competitions held the week before. There had been 404 entries with 22 of the entries considered outstanding by the judges.

The Penhold branch delegates were delighted to hear the branch had won first place in the total number of points, with Springvale second and Pine Lake third. Mrs. Lorene Douglas of Penhold branch was 1st prize winner in the individual standings, she had 38 entries, while Mrs. Kathleen Bickley of the Ridgewood branch came second.

In the over seventy class, Mrs. C.P. Winter of RR 1,

Penhold and a Clearview member, won a third place for points, but it should be mentioned that practically all Mrs. Winter's entries were classed as "exceptional."

Special appreciation was extended to Mrs. M.E.

Mayberry who was in a class of her own, winning top marks in all her entries. Mrs. Mayberry is 91!

The Pine Lake branch won the Doris Beckingsale award for the highest marks in the knitting class. This is very appropriate, because the late Mrs. Beckingsale, for whom the trophy honors, was a member of that group.

Lunch was enjoyed at noon supplied by the members, and a tea break during the afternoon session.

Sing a Song of Safety Pine Lake W.I.
Tune - Please see end of song for directions.

1. We've been thinking thoughts of safety
Safety for you and me
Safety in our actions,
Now don't you all agree?
Safety, conscious is the key word,
While we work or play
So now listen to our story
We have lots to say.

2. Swimming and boating are lots of fun
Please obey the rules,
Don't show off to please your friends
Those who do are only fools.
Water safety is only wise
Think before you dive
Water might be shallow,
Try to stay alive.

3. Someone's in the kitchen with mother
Crawling all over the floor
Will that someone soon
Open the cupboard door?
And swallow the Drano, polish or soap
Keep it high and out of reach
Your little one is much too small
Protect him first, and then you teach.

4. Tell your child where danger lies
In the chores they have to do
Don't let them say "I didn't know"
Don't let this happen to you
Power machinery and power tools need
Utmost care from you
Don't neglect them, keep them in repair.
They demand respect from you, and singing...

Canadians prominent at ACWW

June 5/80

HAMBURG (Staff) — The 65 member Canadian voting delegation was prominent at the 16th triennial conference of the ACWW held in Hamburg and the decision to hold the next session in Vancouver in 1983 means they will be even more so.

The last time it was held in Canada was in 1953 in Toronto.

Among Canadians taking active part in the 12 day conference were:

- Ellen McLean of Nova Scotia, Canada's retiring area vice-president, named to ACWW's constitutional committee and responsible for summing up the conference.

- Senator Martha Bielish of Alberta elected new area vice-president.

- Bernice Noblitt, president-elect of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada chaired the conference committee on publicity and publications and gave the report.

- Florence Diamond, Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario presented a paper during study sessions on environmental pollution describing Ontario's chlorine train disaster which required evacuation of 25,000 people.

- Barbara Housen of Unity, Saskatchewan Women's Institutes was rapporteur of a study session.

- Leda Jensen of Alberta Women of Uniform president, was rapporteur for the constitution conference committee.

- Darlene Henderson, National Farmers Union women's president steered four recommendations from her organization through policy committee and saw them passed by the conference.

- Emmie Oddie, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, Kathleen Hamblin and Lois Edie, president and president elect of the Manitoba Women's Institute, joined in resolution debate.

- Jean Leahy, Fort St. John, B.C. spoke on an urgency resolution urging women to support the International Women's Year plan of action to strengthen international peace.

AWI does crystal ball gazing, sees challenges

By LORRAINE FROEHLICH

OLDS (Staff) — What the next 75 years will bring was the question Marie Plazier raised in her presidential message to the members of the Alberta Women's Institute (AWI) which held its annual convention here June 9-11.

Alberta is celebrating its 75th birthday but Plazier hopes that in the next 75 years the AWI will succeed in keeping on top of current issues. "It's up to you," she told the over 300 delegates assembled at the Olds College.

Plazier gave the first report of the convention which focused on the theme "Challenge of the 80's". In a brief interview she said keeping in touch and maintaining interesting programs are the two important factors.

Plazier, who has been president for two years, said there has been no drastic changes made while she has been in office, which is due to expire next year. She has tended to stick to the theme of the family. "If the family unit is healthy and happy, then the country will have nothing to fear," she said.

Helping homemakers establish a happy home is the task of the organization today. In date that was the philosophy she said and although times have changed, the purpose of the organization remains the same.

Many of the members attending the three-day gathering were the older members of the AWI. However, Plazier said, "you do not see the average member here. There are several branches which are entirely young members." She said young women are busy with their families or are working and therefore cannot attend.

She referred to many of the founding members present: "We must not forget the debt we owe to the people who established this organization. The dedication was tremendous." To underline such spirit she cited the example of a woman who for nine years walked six miles to attend branch meetings.

Plazier expressed concern for the declining enrollment of young people in the girl's club, a branch of the organization for girls under 19 years of age. She said the club is experiencing "a gap where they go out and come back later."

She also attributes the lack of younger members to preoccupation with other matters. Children are involved in school activities and other clubs, while mothers are out working and don't have the time to lead a girl's group.

Kaye Rowbottom, first vice-president, said the institute is undergoing a rapid enrollment of women between the ages of 25 to 30. However, on balance the organization is just holding the line because some constituencies have been disbanded because members are too few or too elderly.

She also said the trend in the educational focus of the AWI is changing. Environmental concerns for instance, have become a major part of their program.

Rowbottom who has been a member of the AWI since 1948, said town halls and libraries were often owned and operated by AWI groups. Today the institute has few operations of this nature but it has expanded into the urban areas.

History of W.I.'s reviewed in Penhold

Continuing the series of talks by members of the Alberta Women's Institutes leading up to the 60th anniversary of the Red Deer Centre Constituency, that will be held in the Penhold Memorial Hall on June 13th, it was interesting to listen to Mrs. Ethel Morrisroe and Mrs. Ruby MacFarlane on "Dialog" on Friday, March 28th reviewing the history down through the years and the accomplishments of the organization.

It was on the suggestion of Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of the Governor General of Canada, who took a keen interest in the Women's Institutes across Canada, that the idea of Community Histories was introduced.

She realized at the time that most of our important history was being lost, and her suggestion was a good one, because, through her idea hundreds of histories across Canada have been compiled since that time. The Clearview branch, just east of Penhold, in 1959 won the provincial prize for their story of the community.

It was the Alberta Women's Institutes between 1937 and 1939, when money was very scarce in the province, that raised $2,000.00 which was presented to Dr.

Cross, then the Minister of Health for the province, to purchase Radium for the University Hospital.

It was given on condition treatment be given free to all sufferers needing it, and at the 1939 Convention a resolution was passed that the Alberta Government consider the formation of Cancer Clinics on the same basis as that of control of tuberculosis and of social diseases as practised in the province.

In 1940 the Cancer Act was passed on since that time, all radium treatment as well as X-ray treatments under the Cancer Clinic, of the Provincial Department of Health, have been provided free of charge from provincial funds. Quite a step in those days!

It was the Women's Institutes that started Community Libraries with books first donated by Lady Tweedsmuir that were passed from community to community. That's how the Parkland Library in Lacombe got it's start.

It was through the pressure of the Alberta Women's Institutes that Health Units and Baby Clinics became a reality, and the Constituency under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Richards, who persuaded the Kiwanis in Red Deer to do something for senior citizens in Central Alberta, and the residences now in operation are the outcome of that persuasion.

The handicraft competitions on the Constituency, Provincial and National levels have brought honour and satisfaction to many members. In our immediate vicinity, Mrs. Peter Winter of R.R. 1, Penhold is one of our National winners, with many in Central Alberta receiving Provincial honours.

We're sure any of the members in the ten branches in the Red Deer Center Constituency can feel proud to have been a part of the many accomplishments of the organization down through the years, and are looking forward with interest to the 60th anniversary celebrations.

The Pine Lake 75th Anniversary Picnic held in August was attended by over 300 persons. Activities of the day included the parade, old-time races and relays, and biffy painting contest. The afternoon was highlighted with the cutting of our birthday cake and the introducing and presenting of certificates to our 19 honoured pioneers of 75 years and over who were present. Our scrapbook with the updating of over 55 family histories was enjoyed by all. The day of fun was completed with a weiner roast and singing around the evening fire.

Our Pine Lake W.I. program books are to be handed in at December meeting for judging. The ladies are busy with their annual jelly making. Orders for jelly can be obtained from any W.I. member. The meeting was informed of the computer checkout system seminar to be held at the Red Deer College on October 15, at 8:00 p.m. in Room 2501.

Mrs. Dorothy Herbert hosted 22 members of the Pine Lake Women's Institute at the Pine Lake Hub Community Centre January 13, 1981. Eight members were recognized for having perfect attendance in 1980. Annie Allen, Marion Brown, Lillie Clutton, Dorothy Herbert, Irma Lawrence, Kathleen Lawrence, Vera Pearce and Doris Warke.

Pine Lake Women's Institute marks a quarter of a century of service. At each monthly meeting of 1981, time will be set aside to review the events of the last twenty-five years. Because of its inception on April 17, 1956, April will see a branch celebration with August birthday celebrations extended to past members and W.I. friends.

Twenty-eight gifts were presented to the Canadian Mental Association.

Fifty dollars was donated to the Associated Country Women of the World Conference Fund. This world conference on international level will be held in Vancouver, B.C. in 1983.

Telephone whist card parties will be held on February 20 in aid of the Heart Fund.

Pine Lake W.I. voted to support the boycott of all Nestle's products in Canada until the company complies with World Health Organization recommendations in regard to the handling of infant formula in the third world.

Pine Lake Women's Institute

At their February meeting the Pine Lake Women's Institute endorsed the C.A.C. resolution by saying "YES" to keeping prices marked on super-market products with the advent of computerized pricing.

The branch will also support any tour arrangements in Central Alberta around the Associated Country Women of the World Conference which will take place in Vancouver 1983.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Kathleen Lawrence who spoke on the preservation of farm land. Pertinent information was presented with the use of clippings, graphs, charts and pictures. Land prices have escalated from a 1921 figure of $45 per acre to a present provincial average of $390 per acre making it impossible for beginning farmers to pay for land by farming. Mrs. Lawrence agree the members to be aware of the dangers of acid rain which is invisible and tasteless. It is sulfur dioxide produced by sour gas plants and believed to cause many health problems in animals and man. She also stressed the need for a national policy for the preservation of farm land.

Mrs. Doris Warke, Handicraft Convener, urged members to take time for themselves: learn and enjoy a new craft. Don't forget cultural activities; treat yourself to a live performance.

Mrs. Doris Warke took us back when the branch was only two years old. It was the days of the Pine Lake Library, St. John's Ambulance programming, horticultural show, kids, fellowship and fun.

Plans were made to attend the Alberta Women's Institute District 3 Conference at Camrose, Feb. 23, 1981 and the Delburne Women's Institute meeting and pot luck supper March 10 at Delburne.

Pine Lake W.I. March Report

Mrs. Carol Moore, R.N., and Mrs. Doris Warke were the guest speakers at the regular meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute.

Mrs. Moore spoke on the "Home Care" program initiated in 1978. It brings services to the elderly, handicapped, terminally ill and patients of recent surgery.

Services include: home nurse, occupational therapy, physiotherapy, speech therapy, and home makers. To be eligible a patient must be under the care of physician and a member of the Alberta Health Plan. Mrs. Moore, a home care nurse, stressed the need to inform the public of the available services, many which are free. Mrs. Warke, Constituency Convener for Red Deer Centre Women's Institute, traced the beginning of the Associated Country of the World and the formation of the organization in 1913 under the first president, Mr. Alfred Watt in Sweden. A.C.W.W. as a vehicle through which women can help women in sister organizations help themselves.

In continuing with the theme, "Twenty-five years of Service", Mrs. Vera Pearce related the days when old woolens were changed into blankets; coal was purchased for the community centre, 275 people were X-rayed at a locally sponsored clinic and layettes were made from donated material. All by 13 members of the Pine Lake

W.I. Five members had attended the District 3 Conference, Feb. 23, W.I. at which an information workshop on the Canadian Constitution had been held.

Ten members and two husbands were guest of the Delburne W.I. on March 10 and enjoyed an afternoon of music, skits and contests followed by a pot luck supper.

The Pine Lake Women's Institute will support the Alberta Women's Institute project of supplying sewing and knitting machines to Bangladesh. Each member was given one dollar to be "bulged" and returned at a latter meeting.

Over one million dollars worth of chemicals are used in Canada each year giving the consumer flawless produce. Marion Brown presented "Flash Back" reviewing 1961 events of horticultural show, community dances, variety program, and collection of Nabob coupons.

Six members had attended the A.W.I. Annual Convention at Olds. Doris Warke, Marion Brown and Kathleen Lawrence reported on the three day program. Pine Lake W.I. contributed $54.00 to the AWI Bangladesh project supplying knitting and sewing machines for self help.

Pine Lake Women's News

Pine Lake W.I. resumed their fall meetings with Mr.

Leo Jacques as guest speaker. With the use of slides, Mr. Jacques depicted life in Kampala, Uganda as he, as a commercial teacher, his wife and two children found it in 1971-73. Under the auspices of C.I.D.A. Mr. Jacques and his family were scheduled for a 2-year working term, but they were forced to leave the African nation as Idi Amin implemented his reign of terror. Mrs. Lillie Clutton, United Nations Branch Convenor, thanked our guest.

51 family, past, and visiting branch members joined the Pine Lake Women's Institute in a family picnic August 9, to celebrate 25 years of service to Home & Country. After a Pot Luck dinner, young and old participated in races and games. The afternoon program featured a brief review of the 25 years with all members contributing. Mrs. R. Brown presented the branch history and Mrs. E. Pierce and Mrs. C. Lawrence conducted a brief memorial service and presented the Book of Remembrance. Spot prizes were given to: Mrs. Mary Wade, Blackfalds, as the oldest person present; Mrs. Hattie Moschenross, Vanderhoof, B.C., for travelling the greatest distance; and Irma Lawrence and family for the largest family group in attendance. Birthday cake, ice cream and tea brought the enjoyable afternoon to a close.

Additional summer projects were many and varied: In June the Pine Lake W.I. supported and contributed to a paper drive for Delburne Centralized School. The "Centennial Corner" project was continued with frequent lawn mowing, and flower bed weeding to keep Alberta beautiful. Pine Lake W.I. won second prize with a group of five handicraft articles in the Westerner.

Mrs. Marion Brown was pleased to host Anne Barbanell from Suffock, England. Mrs. Barbanell gave an illustrated talk of life in Zimbabwe, Africa to members of the Central Alberta W.I.'s Sept. 1, 1981. Highlight of the evening was the unexpected visit from Simon Jozzy, a native of Zimbabwe and presently living in Central Alberta.

With fall activities resuming, the branch is making plans for sponsoring Further Education Courses and a Sr. Citizens' Group. Pine Lake W.I. is continuing its effort to pressure for more adequate signing on a dangerous intersection of SR No. 816.

Branch members were encouraged to recognize World Food Day, Oct. 16/81.

Pine Lake Womens Institute News

International Affairs

Yes, the above title is new to A.W.I. but has been changed to this from United Nations and Exchange Program to conform with its counterpart at F.W.I.C. level.

I am your new education convener and with the help of my friend and neighbor, Mrs. Marion Brown, will endeavor to fulfill this convenership over the next three years. My husband and I live east of Innisfail and are involved in a mixed farming operation. I am a former teacher and our family of two daughters and two sons are now adults, three are married with families so my husband, John, and I also fill the role of doting grandparents.

Red Deer Centre, the constituency to which I belong, along with Red Deer West and Innisfail, hosted by Mrs. Ann Barbanell at the Knox Presbyterian Church in Red Deer in September. As she very capably toured us through some educational facilities in England and then on to the Outward Bound school in Rhodesia, via her slides, one of the spectators in the front row became very interested. He was Mr. Simon Jozzy from Zimbabwe, and is presently attending Red Deer College. His home village was very close to the Outward Bound facilities. He had attended a missionary school and through the sponsorship of his teacher arrived in Canada to attend Red Deer College. A brother of his sponsor had read in the local paper of the evening slides and brought Simon to them. Naturally, Mrs. Barbanell and Simon had a delightful chat over coffee. A card recently received by her hostess, Mrs. Marion Brown, from Mrs. Barbanell reiterated her surprise and joy in meeting Simon — in fact she said it was a highlight on her trip across Canada. Through International Affairs, letter links have been established — is this not a "person link"?

My suggestion to everyone is to study countries and organizations involved in A.C.W.W. because as you know, Canada will be hosting the A.C.W.W. convention in 1983. Also remember to involve yourselves in the letter link program. Mrs. Brown left you with splendid ideas with which to work with in her columns in this paper and do read her report in the 1980-81 Report Book. I am waiting, with anticipation, to hear from you.

Faye Mayberry, Constituency Convener for Red Deer Centre Women's Institute Constituency, was guest speaker at the Feb. 9th meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute. New Brunswick has been twinned with Alberta for the 1982 W.I. study. Mrs. Mayberry stimulated interest in the project by tracing the origin of the New Brunswick people back to Champlain in 1604. She spoke of industries that have helped develop the province and the contribution New Brunswick Women's Institute has made for the betterment of Home & Country. She supported her presentation with illustrated maps and concluded with a quiz.

Mrs. Doris Warke, Handicraft and Cultural Activities Convener, encouraged the finishing of handicraft articles for the upcoming Handicraft Tea. She also suggested group attendance at a theatrical production.

Pine Lake W.I. will support their provincial organization with a donation of $50.00 to the Office Fund. District support will be shown as the branch caters to a tea for volunteers at Red Deer & District Museum. "Heart Fund" card party will be sponsored for the community Feb. 27/82 at the Pine Lake "Hub" Community Centre. E. Marion Brown volunteered to represent the branch on the Pine Lake Welcoming Committee.

Branch members made plans to attend the District 3 Conference Feb. 22, 1982 at Camrose, Alberta. Afternoon program will be a producer-consumer workshop sponsored jointly by Alberta Agriculture and A.W.I. Branch member, Marion Brown will represent the "producer" on the 3-member A.W.I. panel.

Farmers 'must promote agriculture' to slow loss of land

The Lethbridge Herald

March 11, 1982

By RIC SWIHART
Herald Business Writer

Farmers must do a better job promoting their industry if they expect to slow the loss of farmland to urban sprawl, industry and road construction, an Alberta Women's Institute panel speaker said Wednesday.

And consumers must be educated to accept higher food prices, allowing farmers, especially young ones, to combat the economic plight created by high land, production and interest costs, other panel members told 40 farm wives at a seminar in the Park Plaza Motor Hotel.

Holly Hollett of Carstairs said government policy lacks guidelines to protect the agricultural land base.

"The regulations here have been a long time coming, and there are a lot that aren't coming," she said in an interview.

Stronger regulations governing subdivisions should be a priority, said Hollett. But before such changes are possible, everybody must become involved in regional planning work.

Hollett said the County of Mountain View has taken the lead in land use regulations, limiting subdivision of arable land to 160-acre parcels. Non-arable land can be subdivided into parcels as small as two acres.

Public education is a major job of agriculture, she said.

"Everybody says there is a lot of agricultural land," she said. "But by the year 2000, 1.7 million acres will be taken out of production in Alberta."

She said the amount of land taken out of production by road systems is "unbelievable."

And industry has a responsibility to save farm land, she said. Petrochemical plants built recently near Red Deer should have been farther east, on less productive land.

She said some of Alberta's best land is in the Red Deer-Calgary corridor, and the province and private developers have already bought ~~some~~ land between Airdrie and Calgary at $2,000 to $16,000 an acre.

But farmers have a more immediate battle with consumers, said Shirley Reinhardt of Rockyford, to convince them that food is the best buy on the market.

She said most consumers buy groceries at a supermarket, but spend only 30 per cent of their shopping money for food. Seventy per cent of the money spent in supermarkets is for non-food merchandise among the 10,000 items in a typical store.

Reinhardt said farmers must work hard to change their image as millionaires.

In 1949, the average Canadian's disposable income was $921 and his grocery bill $20 a week. In 1981, the average was $4,700 while the grocery bill had increased to $96 a week.

"Although food prices have increased, it takes less than half as long to make the money to buy the groceries," she said.

In the same 32-year period, consumers have increased spending for cars, houses, travel and entertainment six times and increasing bank savings seven times.

"We have seen the total amount paid for food increase four times, but farm incomes haven't increased proportionately," said Reinhardt.

Low farm incomes have forced farmers to become more efficient and to produce surplus stocks to increase incomes, but consumers benefit most through resulting depressed food prices.

Marion Brown of Pine Lake said constantly-rising production costs have forced more Alberta farmers to take off-farm employment to maintain production.

Less than one-third of farm income is earned on farms, she said, mainly because farmers receive only about 38 cents of the consumer food dollar.

Brown said consumers must realize that if Canadian farmers don't make a profit, the country will have to rely more on foreign food suppliers.

Alternatives to farm profits include increased off-farm employment, more marketing boards, land banking that would kill farmer pride in ownership or more credit-card grocery purchases, she said.

Agriculture accounts for only three per cent of the Alberta population, but provides 30 per cent of the jobs. "The food and beverage industry in Edmonton is more important economically than the oil industry."

Laurene Kiemlele of Cardston said farm problems are similar across the province.

She said consumers must rearrange priorities to help keep farmers in independent production.

Kiemlele said the deadline for continuation and expansion of farms is nearing, and only increased spending from consumers will save agriculture since it is impossible to save significant amounts in the cost of production.

Mr. Isabelle Beck was the speaker for the May meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute. She chose "New Brunswick" as her topic for study. New Brunswick is a province square in shape - 180 by 190 miles, with a coast line of 1,400 miles. It has a population of 7,100 people, 90 per cent of the land area is covered with forest. 6 percent of the land is in agriculture with farms averaging 306 acres. Industries include: manufacturing products, mineral products, agriculture, forest, fish and fur.

All members of the Pine Lake W. I. participated in the Constituency Handicraft Display and Tea held recently at the Red Deer and District Museum. Branch members receiving special recognition were: Wanda Andrews, Dorothy Herbert, and Annie Allen.

Eight branch members attended the Constituency Conference April 30. Doris Warke, Marion Brown, Gayle Olson and Beth Smith assisted in the day long program.

Plans were made for the A. W. I. Provincial Convention to be held in Olds May 31-June 2. Kathleen Lawrence and Marion Brown will represent the branch as alternating delegates. Resolutions were read, discussed and voted upon.

The annual Coffee Party will be held Sat., June 5 from 9-11 a. m. at the HUB Community Centre, Pine Lake. Baking and plants will be for sale Handicraft will be on display.

The culmination of the Poster Contest, "How Food Gets To Our Table" Will be held at the HUB Community Centre Friday, June 11 at 10 a.m. Children will be awarded their prizes. Baked goods and farm produce will be for sale. Free coffee will be served. The public is invited to attend.

June Report

Pine Lake Women's Institute

Catherine Lawrence was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute. She presented her 4-H speech, "The Rain that Kills", in which she explained that acid rains are formed from sulphur dioxides and nitrogen oxides from industrial plants, oil refineries, and automobile emissions. It is invisible, tasteless and its presence is only felt as dead lakes, corroding metals, and animal and human illnesses appear. Technology and legislation are in place but the greatest need is for enforcement. Edna Whittemore, Environmental Conservation Convener, added to the presentation with local problems of land use, pesticides, housing insulation and new weeds.

Mrs. Whittemore was also a recent visitor at the Erland Lee (Museum) Home in Stoney Creek, Ontario. It was in this home that the original Women's Institute Constitution was hand penned in 1897. Mrs. Whittemore entered her name in the guest book as a member of the Pine Lake W.I. as did Gayle Olson in the guest book in the A.C.W.W. office in London, England on her recent visit to Great Britain.

Winners of the recent poster contest were presented with cash prizes on Farmer's Day in a culmination program at the HUB Community Centre. They were: Gr. 1-3, 2nd Garth Ziegler; Gr. 4-6, 1st Jason Edmundson, 2nd Beverly Edmundson & Margo Lawrence; Gr. 7-9, 1st Catherine Lawrence, 2nd Teresa Vincent, Mrs. D. Schalin, one of the judges, congratulated the 10 participants and suggested ways to improve their artistic work. All the posters will be laminated and sent to the FWIC Convention in New Brunswick for display.

Marion Brown, Doris Warke, Kathleen Lawrence, and Dorothy Herbert attended the annual A.W.I. Convention in Olds. The convention welcomed members from two recently formed branches as well as examining in workshop sessions questions of concern to the provincial organization. Resolutions concerning 'cruise' testing, the lash, the death penalty were widely discussed. Convention delegates began their contribution to the ACWW Conference in Vancouver June 1983 as hundreds of silk wild roses were made as gifts for the world delegates.

Plans were made for catering to the 4-H banquet and awards night in July as well as continuation of the annual jelly making project, participation in "The Westerner" handicraft competition and Heritage Day Aug. 2nd. August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edna Whittemore with the members of the Delburne W.I. as guests.

Pine Lake WI

Mildred Luz, district three director for Alberta Women's Institute, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Pine Lake and Delburne W.I. Mrs. Luz attended the Federated Women's Institute of Canada Convention held in Fredericton, N.B. and told highlights of the four-day June event.

Special convention guest was Associated Country Women of the World President Ziny Westerbring-Muller who spoke of her world travels and the desperate need for a safe and adequate water supply.

Resolutions on such Canadian issues as arms control, acid rain, change in capital gains taxation were passed. Worthwhile workshops were offered to the delegates on interspousal battering and its effects, Bill C53, adolescence and changing lifestyles, and producer-consumer concerns.

The project of "twinning" provinces was most effective and many friendships will be formed between the twin provinces of Alberta and New Brunswick.

New FWIC president is Bernice Noblitt from Ontario, where the next federated convention will be held in 1985. Marion Brown received a letter from Barbara White of Newfoundland, who had purchased her handmade leather moccasin slippers from the gift stall at the FWIC convention. Mrs. White also wrote of hosting the Alberta delegation in her province.

The children's posters of How Food Gets to Our Table have been returned from the FWIC convention and are on display.

Pine Lake WI has had an active summer with many branch activities. The branch participated in Heritage Day by staging an old-fashioned fashion show. Fashions included a wedding dress dating back to 1891, bathing suits, hats, children's and men's fashions.

A 4-H banquet was catered to in July.

Lillie Clutton and Kay Lawrence represented the branch at the constituency hosting of Mr. and Mrs. David Norris of England.

Gayle Olson presented the branch with an ACWW tray cloth which she had purchased from the head office in London on her recent trip to Great Britain.

ACWW president hip-hops the world

By LIZ DELAHEY

Life as world president of the Associated Country Women of the World is far from a dull affair.

That became evident as Ziny Westerbring-Muller shared some of her experiences at the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada triennial convention held recently in Fredericton.

The Netherlands is her home, but if her 1982 itinerary is any indication she has spent very little time there since her election in Hamburg in 1980. When interviewed in mid-June, Westerbring-Muller has not been home since Feb. 27.

In the interval she has visited some of the world body's nine million members in the Caribbean, South America, the United States and Canada. She was caught in a coup in Surinam and lived with members in their homes in Guyana.

While staying with one hostess she was escorted to the bathroom where she found the shower and bathroom filled with green frogs. When she asked whether they were poisonous she was assured they were not.

"After six or seven days I almost got used to them but I never got used to the lizards," she confessed. "It was absolutely frightening when they found the holes in the mosquito netting and crossed your face in the middle of the night."

Of course one must never show that any of these things bother you.

she said, revealing her almost regal sense of duty.

A long way up

Explaining that she was elected as president after many years on committees and a term as deputy president, Westerbring-Muller said she was always encouraged by her late husband. He told her at one stage of her career, "when they want to elect you, accept your responsibility and do your work."

Her husband died one week after the Hamburg conference but Westerbring-Muller said they were prepared. She looked into the future and realized there was much she could do for women.

The world president said travelling to developing countries to visit members is a good way of communicating. It helps to talk to the women to give them guidelines for approaching the government. Sometimes one has to try to find out what particular need they have if they can't identify it themselves. And it helps to understand cultural differences when deciding on ACWW projects.

When visiting a Zimbabwe village she asked women what difficulties they faced. She found that African men never give any money to their wives. They have to earn money from handicrafts like pottery. Getting their products to market proved difficult because as many as 200 people crowd into one bus.

A goal ACWW shares with UNESCO is to give the whole world pure drinking water and sanitation by 1990.

It's an enormous task she said, but if all the women of the world mobilized and realized that it was for the next generation, for their children, it could be possible.

UNESCO estimates half the world's people — 2000 million men, women and children — are without reasonable access to a safe and adequate water supply. This is blamed for disability, disease and death, especially among infants and small children.

Saving resources

The world president said something has to be done about reforestation as well as water and sanitation.

In Africa, every woman has to cook her meals with firewood and much is needed daily. Carrying firewood as well as carrying water is a female responsibility and wood is becoming difficult to find.

Transportation is another concern Westerbring-Muller cited. It has repercussions on health and child care. Only 25 percent of the world's population has access to hospital and health care.

Westerbring-Muller said sometimes men have to be fought in the development process. In Malaysia men complained that the women were getting too lazy, as a result of the changes.

She views education as the key to development. When you educate women, you educate a whole family and a future generation, she said. There is a particular need to educate women in agriculture and give them more say at the decision making levels, because they are the ones working in the fields.

To help solve some of these problems, Westerbring-Muller said groups and individuals can support UNESCO Co-action Project No. 71. Six dollars would buy a shovel to dig a latrine pit while a $120 donation would buy a water pump. The Canadian address is Canadian Commission for UNESCO, C.P. 1047, 225 Alberta St., Ottawa K1P 5V9.

500 FWIC delegates take a look around the world

By LIZ DELAHEY

FRÉDERICTON (Staff) — When 500 delegates and visitors descended here for the ninth national convention of the 50,000 member Federated Women's Institutes of Canada they received an education on the scope of the organization.

The world president of the Associated Country Women of the World and other speakers addressed international issues, while workshop leaders and others delved into national and social concerns.

Winding up a three-year term as president, Emmie Oddie of Tregarva, Sask. described the time as one of image building and housekeeping. She said the FWIC existence depends on provincial WI structures.

Directives following the last conference were to improve communications between national and provincial offices and to present WI opinion to government and the public to improve the image of FWIC and speak for women dedicated to home and country.

Groups of individuals at the rate of 100 to 150 were to report techniques.

Table space is available for groups to demonstrate their craft projects to hobbyists and to display to display wares.

Scheduled for Oct. 2, 1982 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Edward Sports Centre in Pierson, Man., the craft carnival is designed to display craft projects produced by hobbyists and to demonstrate their techniques.

right to limit the number of duplicate crafts and suggested booking early to avoid missing the opportunity to display wares.

to a delegate's suggestion that WI should give money to FWIC to help with projects, Oddie said perhaps the national organization could do that if WIs were committed financially to a cause. (An increase in the annual grant has been promised by Eugene Whelan, federal minister of agriculture but the amount has not yet been set.)

A personal view

Ziny Westerbring-Muller, ACWW president gave a personal account of what it's like to be world president. Since elected in 1980 she has visited South America, the Caribbean and Africa and was caught in a military coup in Surinam.

When ACWW spends money on officers' travel it helps with an understanding of cultural practices, she said.

Zimbabwe women told her young boys destroyed water pumps installed by the FAO in villages because it had altered the marriage market. The old watering sites had been popular meeting places for young people. But it's a different story in Kenya she said, because there, the older women carry the water so it is an advantage to have pumps in villages.

In Trinidad, Tobago and Grenada, even the youngest children had guns and have been taught to hate white people, she said.

Arms control

Delegates demonstrated their international concern by passing a resolution asking both the provincial and federal governments to do everything possible to bring about arms control and a reduction in nuclear weapons.

A resolution dealing with acid rain called for continued research efforts and control strategies by governments to reduce acid causing emissions in Canada and continued pressure for stricter controls in the United States and Canada.

The Garrison diversion project is to resume following the removal of an injunction against construction and land acquisition. In a resolution the FWIC again urged the federal government to continue to support the Manitoba government in its efforts to fight the project which could pollute the Souris and Red River systems.

Other resolutions asked for a change in capital gains taxation so that valuation of farm lands is more representative of existing values and for the federal government to fund research to produce a vaccine for humans against equine encephalitis.

Pine Lake W.I. Sep't. Report

Newly elected president-elect, Beatrice Reeves of Charlottetown admires the president's pin which Emmie Oddie (right) has just turned over to Federated Women's Institutes of Canada new president, Bernice Noblitt of Ottawa (centre).

Mrs. Kathleen Lawrence, Educational Convener of Social Services, chose as her topic "Coming of Aging" as she spoke to the September meeting of the Pine Lake W.I.

Aging is a natural process in which the body slows down but there is not necessarily a decrease in learning or work productivity. Life expectancy is increasing to 75-80 years of age and greater recognition is being given to the increasing number of elderly. The elderly are helping themselves; in many areas becoming cohesive groups assisting each other through a network of goods and services. People approaching senior years are encouraged to plan for retirement in order to retire to something rather than from something.

Recent donations made by the branch included:

1. Donations to "HUB" Community Centre by individual members.
2. "Bay Bucks" of $11.70 turned into kitchen utensils for centre.
3. 574 used stamps to A.C.W.W. for resale at 1983 Conference.
4. 8 lbs. of used Christmas cards to Michener Centre.
5. Large bundle of "cents off" coupons to Golden Circle.
5. 20 pr. of white ski mitts knit for Red Cross sale at Parkland Charity Bazaar.

The branch is sponsoring four further Education Programs for the fall session: Baking with Yeast, Needlepoint, Patchwork Projects, and Shortbreads.

Plans were made for the annual jelly sale November 17 and for recognizing World Food Day October 16.

Pine Lake Womens News

Lillie Clutton, Educational Convener for INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS, presented the program for the October meeting of the Pine Lake Branch. Continuing with the study of New Brunswick, Mrs. Clutton showed films of the Atlantic area. The showing covered the historic importance of the region as well as up to date living and the importance of the sea on the lives of the people.

Edna Whittemore contributed to the meeting by reading articles from the FEDERATED NEWS. These included Farm Safety, Hazardous Wastes, and World Food Day.

World Food Day is October 16. Only 7 per cent of the world land mass is suitable for agriculture. Canada is a leader in food production and is one of the four world countries that is a net exporter of food. Keeping with this theme the co-hostess served ham sandwiches on home made bread and bread pudding for lunch.

The branch will support the Central Alberta Women's Emergency Shelter fund raising drive by the purchase of pins for each of their members. A donation of $50.00 was made to the local Sunday School.

19 knitted articles will be submitted to the red Cross for November Parkland Sale.

$15.00 was contributed to Pennies For Friendship which will help support our world organization. Roll call was also a discussion of ACWW projects.

Pine Lake W. I will sponsor two S.A.I.T. courses of "Discover Your Individuality with Color, Wardrobe and Makeup" and "Basic Photography" as well as courses with local instructors in the new year.

Responsibilities as well as Rights were emphasized in the impressive ceremony. All members contributed to the theme by naming a prominent New Brunswick citizen.

"Pests In The Garden and Their Control" was the topic chosen by Mrs. Vera Pierce, branch Education Convener for Agriculture. With the aid of a flip chart, Mrs. Pierce listed and described local garden pests. She emphasized the use of natural controls. These included: Consistent vigilance and maintenance, bird and insect control, planting of resistant varieties, companion planting, water and soap sprays, etc. Use chemicals for major problems only.

Founder's Day, February 19th, had been observed by local members at branch and constituency levels. The branch display had been well received at the local hall. Wanda Andrews had manned the Constituency display at the Red Deer Museum on behalf of the branch as she served tea and answered questions of visitors. Members became aware of the amount of water they used in their homes for the day as they turned in their pennies.

HANDICRAFTS —

The beauty and delicacy of traditional sewing, quilting and other handicrafts are still alive and flourishing among members of the Women's Institute. Faye Mayberry of Ridgewood, Women's Institute constituency convenor for the 10 local branches of Red Deer Centre, and Beth Smith of Pine Lake, constituency handicrafts convenor, admire a quilt made the Ridgewood Women's Institute, part of the annual display of W.I. handicrafts and tea held recently at the Red Deer and District Museum. Entries in the handicraft competition are not compared with each other, but judged for quality and assigned points. The points are to be compiled and the top individual and branch winners announced at the W.I. constituency conference on Friday. The annual conference is open to all W.I. members in Red Deer Centre, and begins at 9:15 a.m. at the museum.

PINE LAKE

Pine Lake's Women's Institute will support Alberta's Eurasian Milfoil Program. The main objective of the program is to prevent Eurasian water milfoil from entering, and establishing itself in Alberta. The noxious aquatic weed has invaded lakes and water systems across United States, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. Its prolific growth can disrupt other plant and animal life in the water, clog irrigation and drainage canals, and interfere with boating, swimming and fishing. The weed can easily spread by catching rides on boats being moved from one lake to another.

Pine Lake W.I. will promote an awareness of the dangers by making posters and information available to local resorts. Mrs. Edna Whittemore will head the project.

Health was also a topic of study at the April meeting. Mrs. Annie Allen spoke on such drugs as cocaine, marijuana, speed, angel dust, morphine, heroin, etc. their use, effect and detriment to individuals, families and communities.

Fourteen members participated in the recent Handicraft Tea with the submission of 51 entries. Two paintings and a sample of homespun wool received special recognition.

The A.C.W.W. Conference in Vancouver in June is taking on special emphasis for the Pine Lake branch. As well as two full time visiting delegates, five additional members plan to attend "Canada Day". The branch will also assist in the hosting of women from South America before the main conference.

April roll call was answered with a cancer donation and a cancer fact.

Plans were made for the annual Coffee Party, June 4th at the local centre.

The following constituency convenerhips were elected by acclamation:

Education and Cultural Activities, Elmira Mann; Health & Home Economics, Margaret Kuhar; Agriculture, Pay Mayne; Environmental Conservation, Edna Whittemore; Social Services, Grace Grover.

Letter brings women together after 54 years

By JIM ISBISTER
of The Advocate

Most people write letters to the editor to let off steam or express a viewpoint, but one woman sought and got action.

Eileen McKelliget of Avalon, Australia, wrote The Advocate in January asking local resident Kathleen Lawrence to contact her. The two were playmates for several years while Mrs. McKelliget was living on a farm near Red Deer and she wanted to get re-acquainted, since she would be passing through here on a vacation.

The right eyes saw the letter, in the Jan. 12 Advocate, and Wednesday the pair were face-to-face, for the first time in 54 years.

"I wrote the letter on the off-chance somebody would see it," said Mrs. McKelliget, 57. "I was so surprised when I got her letter — so excited."

"It was a real shot in the dark," said Mrs. Lawrence, 60, of Pine Lake. She didn't see the letter but friends pointed it out to her and she got in touch with Mrs. McKelliget immediately.

They were neighbors for four years in the Poplar Ridge-Crossroads area west of Red Deer before Mrs. McKelliget's (nee Smith) family moved back to England. She grew up there before her family moved to Australia 20 years ago. She and husband Mac had two children.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Lawrence (nee Wilkins) married Chris

Lawrence and settled onto a farm near Pine Lake where she raised four children.

They thought about one another over the years but were never in touch, although their mothers did get together 20 years ago.

Since stepping off the plane at Calgary Wednesday, they have talked about "absolutely everything," said Mrs. McKel-liget. Although the McKelligets return to Australia Saturday, the two long-lost friends have pledged to not let another 54 years go by before they get in touch again.

Citizenship and Legislation- I would like to urge each branch to study Bill C-127, which was passed by the Senate on January 4th 1983. This amendment to the Criminal Code deals with the laws concerning sexual assault and it's definitions. I will be most interested in receiving your reports. Please send me your branch reports as soon as you have had your program, also I would appreciate any special roll calls you presented. The weather is very cold as I write this, but remember Spring is just around the corner- Lawns to mow, weeds to pull and sunshine to enjoy. Wanda Andrews

Pine Lake WI is supporting Alberta's Eurasian Milfoil Program. The main objective of the program is to prevent Eurasian Water Milfoil (a noxious aquatic weed) from entering and establishing itself in the lakes and water systems of Alberta. The weed can spread easily by catching rides on boats being moved from one infested lake (United States, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia) to an Alberta lake. This spring, brochures, bumper stickers and additional information, to promote an awareness of the dangers of Eurasian Water Milfoil, were sent out to all Pine Lake resorts, as well as to all the WI branches of the constituency. Education was the theme of the May meeting of the Pine Lake W.I. Mrs. Isabelle Beck, Educational Convenor, spoke on the University Entrance Exams effective January 1984. These exams as proposed by the Dept. of Education will be a two-hour basic literacy test in essay form. Unsuccessful students will have the option of a remedial program before a second attempt to pass. The remedial program will cease after Sept. 1987. Members added to the theme in the roll call discussion which included: pre-school learning, parental involvement in education, teacher up-grading, controversial examinations, etc.

Nine members attended the recent Constituency Conference. Mrs. Dorothy Herbert and Mrs. Annie Allen won special handicraft awards. The branch won the Doris E. Beckingsale knitting award as well as third place in the Zambia knitting competition.

Mrs. Edna Whittmore reported that the local resorts are participating in the Eurasian Water Milfoil project.

Wanda Andrews will represent the branch at the annual AWI Provincial Convention at Olds. Doris Warke is in charge of submitting handicrafts for competition.

Ladies of the Pine Lake Women's Institute recently attended the Associated Country Women of the World conference held in Vancouver. Before journeying to the coast for the conference they met ACWW President Z. Westebring-Muller at the Olds ACWW mini-conference. Reports, slides and cassette tapes of the 10-day Vancouver events were later shared with the W.I. at the residence of Edna Whittmore. Ever active, the Pine Lake W.I. also catered to the district 4-H Achievement Banquet and staged a fashion show at the Heritage Picnic.

A special feature of the Conference will be a choir numbering approximately 150 members of Canadian ACW Constituent Societies. This Choir will sing at the opening and closing ceremonies, the Interfaith Service and two performances of "Canadiana", the National presentation of Canadian folklore and music. Choir members will wear specially designed catkins, made by the choir members and depicting the Canadian emblem, a red maple leaf.

It is fitting that on this 50th Anniversary of the first ACW World Meeting, this World wide organization which started with the first women's Institute at Stoney Creek Ontario, in 1897 will meet for the second time in its history, in Canada, where the Association had its beginnings.

Canada prepares to welcome the world

By LIZ DELAHEY

The $100,000 cheque the Associated Country Women of the World Canada Conference Committee received from the federal government means delegates and visitors will enjoy the same standard of hospitality as they have in other countries, says Jacquie Linde.

The Williams Lake, B.C. conference committee chairman heads the group organizing volunteers from the 14 Canadian constituent societies of the ACWW who are responsible for the hosting arrangements. To date, 1750 women from around the world have been registered, Linde said.

The June 19 - 29 17th triennial conference is to be held at the University of British Columbia — only the second time the conference has been held in Canada. (The first was in Toronto in 1953.)

The international organization represents country women and homemakers bringing together women of all ages and promoting friendship and understanding. Its grassroots approach has been effective in developing countries and the ACWW is one of the non-governmental organizations of the United Nations with consultative status.

ACWW tied to Canada

It has close links with Canada. Madge Watt, the first ACWW president, was born in Ontario and lived in British Columbia. When she moved to England, she took with her the idea of Women's Institutes that were founded in 1897 in Ontario by Adelaide Hoodless and Erland Lee. To combat wartime food shortages she urged rural women to form WIs.

By 1930, rural organizations had sprung up around the world and Watt envisioned a world federation. With Lady Aberdeen and Elsie Zimmern she brought them together in 1930 and in 1933 in Stockholm, Sweden became the first president.

Canadians have the opportunity of the presidency again. Dr. Ellen McLean, a former Federated Women's Institutes of Canada president who has also served as ACWW area vice-president, is contesting the position with Phyllis Howard of Indiana and Fayola Muchow of South Dakota. The current president, Zeny Westerbring-Muller of the Netherlands, has decided not to run.

Co-operation has come from all parts of Canada to stage the international event, Linde said. Cash donations have been received from all provinces except British Columbia and Manitoba. Organizers are hopeful that with the election over, the B.C. government will offer financial assistance as well.

The B.C. department of agriculture has provided assistance where it was needed, Linde said. A district agriculturist is co-ordinating visits to farms and processing companies during the Home Hospitality Day. The British Columbia Federation of Agriculture has also helped arrange the tours which are one of the most popular features of the conference. They will allow visitors from around the world to experience Canadian rural life.

Linde admitted the home tours proved one of the most difficult aspects of the conference to arrange because she lives so far from the Fraser valley where they will take place.

Farm operators are reluctant to commit themselves until they know what stage their own work will be, she said.

Moving 38 busloads of people has been a planning concern over the three years the conference hosts have been working.

The Canadian organizers have also had to deal with last minute changes. Governor-general Edward Schreyer was to open the conference but due to the visit of Prince Charles and Lady Diana to Ottawa, he is unable to attend.

Ruth Fenner, BCWI president from Dawson Creek said B.C.'s lieutenant-governor Henry Bell-Irving has said he will attend.

Although the mayor of Hamburg staged an impressive reception for delegates in 1980, Linde said they have had little interest in the convention from Vancouver officials.

"Vancouver has so many conventions they hardly acknowledge them," Linde said, but negotiations are continuing.

4-H youth from the Fraser valley will carry the flags for the opening ceremonies, another responsibility of the Canadian committee. International visitors will also be treated to a western style breakfast at which Canadians are expected to appear in western dress. The final event will be a farewell salmon barbecue.

Fenner said one of the big bonuses for Canada has been the unity achieved among the 14 constituent societies working together. She is also enthusiastic about the commitment British Columbia Women's Institute members have shown. Many are chartering buses so they can come into Vancouver four or five days ahead of the conference to pack kits. The women in the valley preparing the meals for the home hospitality day have also contributed a great deal, she said.

The plenary and business sessions of the conference have been organized by the ACWW London office. During these sessions, delegates will consider the challenges of 20th century life. It will give conference goers the opportunity to share ideas, mutual problems and goals through speakers and information sessions.

More activities

Canada Day June 26 is another highlight of the 10-day conference. An interfaith service with various religious faiths represented will feature an address by Rev. Lois Wilson, a former moderator of the United Church of Canada.

Bobby Curtola will head the cast of entertainment in the Canadian show featuring Canadian folklore and music. The Alberta Heritage Group, the Canadian Forces Naden Band, excerpts from the Gold Rush Revue and Monsieur Pointy, a French Canadian entertainer are among the other attractions.

Members from the constituent societies from across Canada have also had a part in the proceedings. One hundred and fifty choir members have volunteered. A gift from the constituent societies will be added daily to each delegate's mail box. Roses from the Alberta Women's Institute and wheat fleurettes from the Women of Uniform are two examples. Quality craft articles made by members will be on sale.

ACWW conference

The challenges of 20th-century life will be compared by about 2,000 women from all over the world when they meet at the University of B.C., June 19-29 for the 17th triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World.

The conference theme, living in today's world, will be for women from nearly 60 countries of the world. Their voice is heard nationally and internationally as ACWW is one of the non-governmental organizations of the United Nations with consultative status on world problems, such as the world water supply.

ACWW is the only international organization representing country women and homemakers. It links together 9 million members in more than 300 non-party political, non-racial, non-sectarian societies.

The 53-year old ACWW owes its beginnings to the Women's Institute, founded in 1897 at Stoney Creek, Ont., by educator Adelaide Hoodless and gentleman farmer, Erland Lee. Their goal was to strengthen the family unit and encourage women to go beyond their homes to help one another think as individuals.

It is fitting that on this 50th anniversary of the first ACWW world meeting, the organization will meet in Canada.

Pine Lake WI Being a member of a world organization has been given greater meaning to the seven members of the Pine Lake Women's Institute who attended the ACWW Conference held in Vancouver in June. Learning from one another on a one to one basis was the important factor. Members appreciated the opportunity of meeting women from South America, Arctic, Labrador as well as ACWW Pres Westerbring-Muller, Area Vice-Pres Martha Bielish, and Dr Irene Spry at the ACWW Mini Conference and area functions ahead of the world meeting. At Vancouver the Canadian choir collected a sum of money (about $240) for the women of Peru who seemed to have the greatest need. However they were whisked home before anything could be done for them. There are now plans to develop a project for the valley from which these women came. Watch for further information in the Home and Country and or Federated News. The August lakeside meeting at the home of Edna Whittemore was a culmination of all ACWW events. Nine visitors from Botha to Trochu as well as our thirteen members reminisced about the conference. Pictures, slides and cassette tape helped convey the message of a great experience to those unable to attend.

Peace voice speaks at ACWW

By LIZ DELAHEY

VANCOUVER (Staff) — A call for peace came from many quarters as the 17th triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World officially opened at the University of British Columbia, June 21.

The organization of country women and housewives brings together women of all races promoting friendship, understanding and practical aid among its nine million members from 70 countries. The Vancouver meeting was the second held in Canada in the organization's 53-year history. The first was in Toronto in 1953.

A host of dignitaries took part in the colorful opening ceremony in which flags of 51 countries were paraded to the stage by members of Fraser Valley 4-H Clubs. Bright red and white blazers emblazoned with maple leaf crests mingled with the traditional costumes of Asia and Africa.

ACWW area vice-president senator Martha Bielish said Canada's 140,000 WI members had all contributed to the conference in some way. Welcoming them to Canada, she reminded delegates they were coming to the home of women's institutes which were founded by Adelaide Hoodless and Erland Lee in 1897. She told them Canadian Madge Watt spread the movement to Great Britain and, working with Elsie Zimmern and Lady Aberdeen, created a world body composed of rural organizations which had sprung up around the world.

Bielish said it was fitting the ACWW conference was being held in Canada 50 years after Madge Watt became the first president.

Later in her presidential address Westerbring-Muller warned that the pace of technological change will bring new problems as well as benefits. Developing countries risk falling even further behind unless they are allowed to use the data bases of other countries and at the same time set up their own, she said. Recent international meetings have recommended establishment of such a global information network.

She urged all women to become more interested in the new technology.

"We cannot turn back or stop these developments. How to make the best use of it is the challenge for the future."

Referring to the words of the song sung by the 100 voice choir from across Canada, ACWW president Ziny Westerbring-Muller said, "you have expressed what is in all of our hearts . . . we all share the dream of peace. We have come to Vancouver to work for justice, for freedom and for peace."

Mayor Michael Harcourt said the organizers had chosen the right location. Vancouver considers itself the city of peace since 80,000 of its population of one million joined a peace march in April.

Everyone wants to avoid another world war and work for world peace by attacking ignorance, poverty and disease, he said.

ELLEN McLEAN

Canadian dairywoman climbs to ACWW presidency

By LIZ DELAHEY

VANCOUVER (Staff) — Ellen McLean, who operates a dairy farm with her husband John at Eureka, N.S., was elected president of the Associated Country Women of the World June 24. She was in a three way race for the presidency against two Americans, Fayola Muchow and Phyllis Howard.

McLean, 56, said the fact she is an agricultural producer and a North American will likely influence her presidency.

"We haven't had a president from North America contributing for a long time and no matter where we come from, our culture and geography affect us."

Her rise in the ACWW organization can be measured in 10 year cycles. She joined a women's institute in 1953 and in 1963 became provincial president. In 1973 she was elected president of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and in 1983, president of ACWW. From 1977 to 80 she was Canadian area vice-president.

A librarian by profession, she is chairperson of the Nova Scotia Advisory Council on the Status of Women, vice chairman on the royal commission on pensions, has been awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree for her work on behalf of rural people and is officer of the Order of Canada.

As a member of the constitution committee, she said she firmly believed in the need for a new ACWW constitution, and will feel some restrictions operating under the old. However, she is prepared to work for the members.

When asked whether she would consider having a parliamentarian at future meetings of the organization, McLean questioned whether one could be found. It puts a president in a very difficult position when delegates come from different parts of the world where meeting procedures may differ because of varying backgrounds and cultures, she said. She is optimistic the divisions created by the ACWW constitutional debate will heal.

McLean said her top priority while president will be to help members in both the developed and developing words. The drug problem for youth everywhere was identified in a workshop on child care and health, she said, and there are other issues of mutual concern.

There are many problems for women associated with the growing use of computers and perhaps if third world women became aware of them they could avoid future pitfalls, she said. In return, women from developed countries could learn a lot about lobbying from women in developing nations.

In future conferences, McLean said she hopes to influence the organizers so there are more small workshops where women from different countries can share problems and concerns.

Women's Institute News Pine Lake

Being a member of a world organization has been given greater meaning to the seven members of the Pine Lake Women's Institute who attended the Associated Country Women of the World Conference held in Vancouver in June. "Learning About Today's World" from one another was the important key. Plenary sessions, discussion groups, mealtimes, resident living, tours, etc. presented such opportunities.

Members also appreciated the opportunity of meeting the women from South America, Arctic, and Labrador as well as ACWW Pres. Z. Westebing-Muller at the Olds ACWW Mini Conference and area functions ahead of the world meeting.

The August Lakeside Pine Lake W.I. meeting at the home of Edna Whittemore was a culmination of all ACWW events. Nine visitors and thirteen members heard highlights of the conference as participants reminisced on the ten day event. Pictures, slides, and a cassette tape helped convey the message of a great experience to those unable to attend.

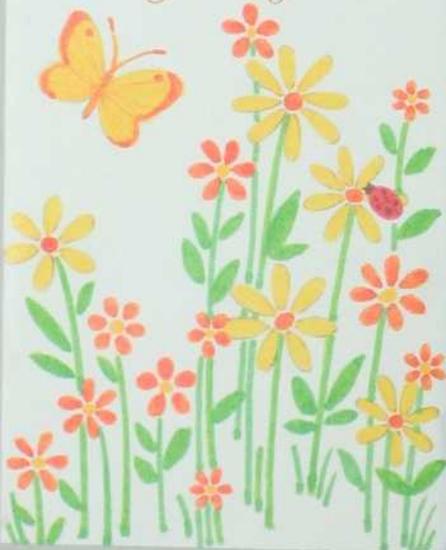

During the summer the Pine Lake W.I. has catered to a 4-H Achievement Banquet and staged a Fashion Show for a Heritage Picnic.

PINE LAKE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE NEWS

The theme of the November meeting of the Pine Lake Women's Institute was Citizenship. Educational Convener Dorothy Herbert presented a paper on the Rights and Responsibilities of a Citizen.

Our nation is made up of numerous races requiring co-operation in social membership that extends from the community to the nation to the world. As a citizen and good neighbour, we must respect and consider the needs of others, have an awareness of government policy and contribute to our society to the best of our ability.

Mrs. Kay Lawrence conducted a quiz of Canadian facts and events, so many of which we take for granted.

Roll call of "Testing our New Constitution" tied into the discussion. The branch forwarded a letter to Hon. Connie Osterman supporting the allocation of lottery-generated funds in greater amount to cultural activities.

Three members recently attended a workshop on Teaching Adults, co-sponsored by Red Deer Constituency Women's Institute and Alberta Agriculture's Home Economics Branch.

Final plans were made for the annual family Christmas supper and community concert.

Election of officers for 1984 included: President - Mrs. Kathleen Lawrence; Vice-President - Mrs. Wanda Andrews; Secretary and Press Reporter - Mrs. Isabelle Beck; Treasurer - Mrs. Lillie Clutton; Directors - Mrs. Gayle Olson, Mrs. Millie Munro, and Mrs. Irma Lawrence.

PINE LAKE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE FALL NEWS

Pine Lake Women's Institute will participate in the Red Deer Centre Women's Institute Constituency project of CRAFT promotion. Hardanger, needlepoint, and crocheting will be sponsored with local teachers. All classes are open to the public. For further information, watch for the Further Education Ball Bulletin or contact 886-4200.

"Social Services" was the theme for the September meeting. Convener Mrs. Kathleen Lawrence, spoke on the Coming of Aging. Nine per cent of the population is now over 65 years, but by the turn of the century this figure may almost be doubled. In contrast, the population of the younger members of the society will decrease. Thus a greater financial burden will have to be shouldered by fewer. There may be less financial demands for education, day care, etc., and monies could be channeled for needs of senior citizens. Society must recognize and try to solve this important problem.

Branch members will contribute knitting to the Red Cross Annual Charity Bazaar November 3, 1983.

Canadian lapel pins will be sent to each member of the Haden Country Women's Association, Queensland, Australia from the branch.

Roll call featured a "White Elephant Sale" with proceeds going ACWW Water Project #71.

A pot luck supper in recognition of World Food Day set the stage for the October meeting of the Pine Lake W.I. Much of the food prepared was "home grown" and in abundance — in sharp contrast to many world areas. $12.20 from individual donations was received for Pennies for Friendship, a fund to maintain the Associated Country Women of the World. Recent news from the branch's Australian pen pal described the severe drought and then floods in N.E. Australia. No crops were able to be grown in the last season.

Wanda Andrews, Educations Convener for Home Economics, demonstrated the food processor. The labor saving tool slices, chops, and shreds but has limited use for beating egg whites, whipping cream and processing soft cheese and frozen foods.

Plans were made for sponsorship of 1984 Further Education Courses.

W.I. Family Supper will be held Dec. 2 1983 and tradition will be broken as dishes P.E.I. style will be served.

Pine Lake W.I. ended their year with Christmas activities. A family supper was held at which members, spouses, and children enjoyed a traditional supper, slides from the ACWW Conference, and Flag Whist. The branch assisted in the arrangements for the annual community Christmas concert as well as supplying 40 candy bags for the children.

At the December meeting an exchange of gifts and the identification of secret sisters by Christmas cards added to the festivities. Draws were made for the two Australian gifts received by the branch. Past members were remembered by the UNICEF greeting cards. Roll call was answered by a Christmas custom observed by the family or another land.

Sympathy was extended to the family of the late Christopher Lawrence. The branch assisted the family by serving lunch at the memorial service.

Year end branch donations included: A.W.I. Girls' Club $20.00, A.W.I. Office Fund $50.00, ACWW Water for All $67.45.

International Affairs

As part of our activities for the United Nations "Water Decade", A.C.W.W. has brought out a new booklet "Water and Sanitation for Villages" - a short guide to possibilities".

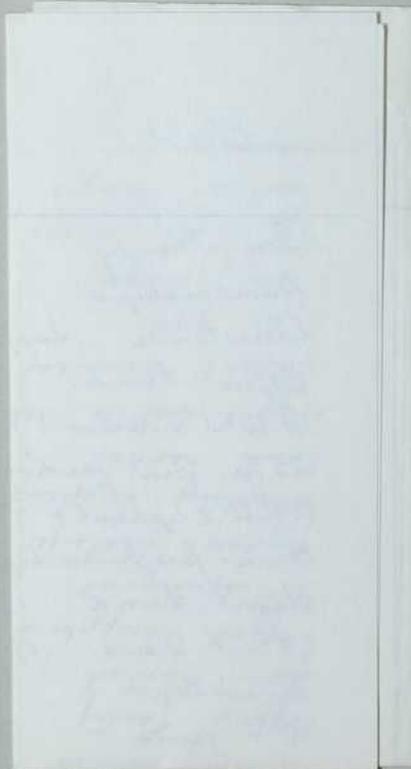

It has been written by a specialist in rural development, with particular emphasis on village technology for women. I will not go into any particular details about it but it would be a most interesting and informative booklet and can be obtained free of charge from 50 Warwick Square, London, SW1V 2AJ, England, but you are asked to cover the cost of postage.

I have just read in the October-December, 1982 issue of the Countrywoman about the "Knitted Squares for Zambia" project. These knitted squares are made up into body blankets for mission hospitals in rural Zambia. The Zambia Association of Women's Institutes and the many babies who are warm and cosy send a very sincere thank you to the hundreds of knitters who have responded to their appeal. Are you one of these knitters? I intend to be out this year. Why not promote this project in your group as part of your International Affairs program? Apparently the blankets are completed over there and are to remain in the hospitals but the article states "How can you send a new-born baby home without a covering?" - so the need is great.

The squares are knitted into a four inch by four inch square and the suggestion is that they be sent by packaging six squares in a strong envelope or packet and dispatched by surface mail, small packet post, to: Mrs. Diana Garner, P.O. Box 157, Mazabuka, Zambia.

There is so much to tell you but hopefully you will have received some more ideas from your representatives at the January workshop in Edmonton.

Alberta Womens Institute District III Holds Conference

It was a nice sunny day weatherwise as 127 ladies registered for the Dis. III Conference held at the Norseman Inn, Camrose, Tuesday, February 21, 1984.

Mrs. Olive Meyer, Dis. III Director opened the conference, O Canada was sung. The Mary Stewart Collect recited and a one-minute silence for departed members. A poem "Just For Today" was read. One departed member's name was mentioned. Mrs. Olga Sereda, president of Conjuring Creek branch, Leduc Constituency.

Mrs. Martha Lindsay, Ohatan Constituency Convenor introduced Mr. Bill Fowler, Camrose Alderman, who welcomed the ladies to Camrose and wished them a successful conference. Martha presented Mr. Fowler with a lovely Red Rose corsage and for a moment all thought Mr. Trudeau was in our midst. It is a gesture like this, coming from the City of Camrose, which certainly adds spice to a conference and our thanks to Mr. Fowler for coming and speaking.

Head table introductions were in order and corsages were presented to Provincial President of the Alberta Women's Institute, Mrs. Kaye Rowbottom from Drumheller and recording secretary Mrs. Joyce Pegg, Hayter & Dis. III Director, Mrs. Olive Meyer.

As this was the 25th Conference of Dis. III, Past Directors were invited to attend. Those who attended were: Mrs. Lena Hillaby, Camrose, who served as Director from 1969 to 1973. Mrs.

Beryl Ballhorn, Wetaskiwin from 1977 to 1980, and Mrs. Mildred Luz, Ohaton from 1980 to 1983.

Time was allotted in the afternoon for these ladies to reminisce about their years Institute work as Dis. Director. Many good laughs were heard throughout the room and a good laugh is great for ones morale. A letter from Mrs. Ruth Howes now residing in the Peace Hills Lodge, Wetaskiwin was read. She was a past director from 1945 to 1947 and from 1949 to 1951; a very honourable lady to say the least in her 90th year. She was unable to attend but sent her best regards for a successful conference.

Minutes of the 1983 conference were read. Dis. Director Olive Meyer gave her report stating she had travelled 629 miles attending Branch anniversaries, Girls Club banquets, and fall was the Botha Green Pals.

It was a pleasure having our Provincial president of the Alberta Women's Institute, Mrs. Kaye Rowbottom as guest speaker, also showing slides of the Associated Country Women of the World convention held at the University of British Columbia last June. This is where representatives from 43 countries around the world partake in a 1700 delegate convention.

A 94 women choir from across Canada sang at the opening and throughout the convention.

After the Pennies for Friendship March and the grace sung, all sat down to an enjoyable luncheon served by the waitresses at the Norseman Inn. At 1:15 the conference reconvened and roll call of constituencies was taken.

For entertainment Mrs.

W.I. holds constituency conference

By Judith Hazlett Dennehy

Even Museum Director Morris Flewelling got into the spirit of things when the Women's Institute decided to enliven its annual Red Deer Centre

Constituency Conference of Friday, April 23, by turning it into a mini-world conference. Many of the 55

WI members attending the conference at the museum were dressed in costumes from various parts of the world. Mr. Flewelling who delivered welcoming remarks to the group wore his kilt.

Faye Mayberry, retiring constituency convenor, said that the idea behind the "world" theme was to give local delegates a sample of the World Conference held in Vancouver last year by the WI's international group, Associated Country Women of the World.

For the constituency conference, each of the nine locals involved adopted and studied a country. They each sent representatives dressed in the traditional attire of that country and assembled presentations to learn more about their sisters in other lands.

Many of the local WI's have worked on projects to assist people in the world's poorer nations—including the "Water Wells for the Kenya" project and the "Squares for Zambia" project which saw 2000 knitted squares shipped off to Zambia for blankets. The conference gave the women a chance to absorb a little of the cultured of these different lands, including a variety of desserts from a Mexican sopipia to an Australian fruit tart. Highway WI in their striving for authenticity even provided a rousing rendition of the Kenyan national anthem, sung by twelve members of their organization.

Also attending were District 3 Director, Olive Meyer, of Wetaskiwin, and the second vice-president of the Alberta Women's Institute, Beryl Ballhorn, of Drumheller. Mrs. Ballhorn noted that the AWI is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year and she noted also some of the accomplishments during the 75 years. In this area alone, the WI was responsible for a community hall at Penhold, the original Sylvan Lake Pier, and a host of other worthwhile community projects.

W.I. PERSONALITIES

Admiring handicrafts submitted in the recent W.I. Show are retiring constituency handicraft convenor, Beth Smith, left, with assistant Kay Lawrence, centre, and retiring constituency convenor Faye Mayberry.

The WI said a fond farewell to one chapter of that history when convenor Faye Mayberry pointed out in her report that Clearview WI has disbanded after 70 years of service. Clearview District is a rural region which borders the city on the south. Clearview WI has contributed at least one AWI president (Ethel Morrisroe) and two provincial secretaries (Agnes and Gertrude Richards). At one point the club contained so many skilled needlewomen that the T. Eaton Co. silver tray was given to it to keep after taking it home repeatedly for several years. The tray is now lodged in the museum's collections.

In other business, the constituency reps. voted in Doris Northey to succeed Mrs. Mayberry who has finished her three year term as convenor. Three other vacant positions were filled with Pat Mayne taking on constituency handicrafts, Doris Warke taking on International Affairs and Jennifer Lund filling the constituency agriculture convenors spot.

Retiring handicraft convenor, Beth Smith, reported on the success of this year's handicraft show which contained more than 300 entries. Springvale branch achieved 100 per cent participation from its members. Highway WI was the overall winner in branch points, Ridgewood took second and Pine Lake came third. Pine Lake WI also managed to take home the Doris E. Beckingsale knitting award for the most points in knitting by a branch. The Beckingsale Award is near and dear to the hearts of the Pine Lake members, as the late Mrs. Beckingsale was a long-time member of the Pine Lake WI and the award is comprised of a pair of her steel knitting needles enshrined on a plaque. It is passed from club to club each year but will be given out permanently in 1987 to the WI which has won it most often.

The overall winner for individual points was Dorothy Herbert of Pine Lake WI. Mrs. Herbert also won the Wildflower Fibre Award for the most points gained in knitting and she took the most points in the "over 70" years old group. The "over 80" award went to Hattie Cline of Highway WI.

The White Elna Sewing Award went to Kathy Bickley of Ridgewood WI for the most points in the sewing division. Mrs. Bickley came second in the overall point standings.

Helen McDonald of Ridgewood came third in overall point standings.

The sampler award went to Lily Petersen.

Women's institutes belt ball to provincial politicians

By LIZ DELAHEY

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — Alberta Women's Institutes want to make sure transportation minister Marvin Moore carries through his announced intention to make seat belts compulsory for children under five. (Related story, page B2)

Delegates to the AWI meeting passed a resolution urging child restraints in automobiles.

The provincial Progressive Conservatives' recent annual meeting supported mandatory seat belt legislation and when a private member's motion was put forward in the legislature, all speakers except one supported it. Since then, transportation minister Marvin Moore has announced to reporters that legislation will be introduced.

Most AWI delegates supported the resolution although one delegate said making it mandatory would pose a hardship for mothers with several young children.

"It's supposed to be a democratic society, so why make people do it?" she said.

But her objections were overruled by a former safety worker who said she could recount many horror stories about not using seat belts. Although she'd prefer that the legislation covered adults as well, she said, half a step is better than nothing at all.

Another resolution passed was also intended as a message to politicians. Delegates supported a motion calling for establishment of an independent advisory council on the status of women. When a motion was introduced in the legislature asking government to consider establishing a council, members said there had been no pressure from women on the issue. The AWI resolution will give MLAs feedback, Aileen Kritzinger of Stony Plain, said.

The government is setting up a women's secretariat but it will be a part of government machinery. An independent advisory body is needed, said newly elected president Kathryn Habberfield.

Aid for rural battered women came up in another resolution as delegates asked the AWI council to make support for the Alberta Council of Women's Shelters a provincial project.

Delegates also called for upgrading existing children's cardiac facilities to compare with Toronto Sick Children's Hospital, so parents do not have to make the emotionally and financially draining trip to Toronto with children needing heart operations.

In elections, Kathryn Habberfield of Langdon was elected president, Beryl Ballhorn of Wetaskiwin, first vice-president, and Holly Hallett of Carstairs, second vice-president. District directors elected were Ruby Walker of Enilda, district 1; Ruby Ritchie, Sherwood Park, district 2; Shirley Thomas, Langdon, district 4 and Noreen Olson, Carstairs, district 5.

Pornography dipped in violence

By LIZ DELAHEY

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — Alberta Women's Institutes want hard core pornography banned and erotic material placed under the counter.

Delegates came to that decision even before attending a workshop which featured clips of Playboy movies appearing on American TV channels and scenes from videotapes available from Red Hot Video in British Columbia. Gang rape, bondage and other forms of violence against women were common themes of the material displayed.

Morgan Price, a public educator and former sexual assault centre worker, said two alarming trends have emerged since 1978 involving violence and children.

There has been explicit use of violence in pornographic material showing rape, sexual assault and bondage. The insidious part is the victim is shown as initially resisting, but in the end, liking it. The pornography industry has started to link violence to sexuality and it's usually acted out against women.

The second trend is the increasing use of children in pornographic material.

"Children are used to sexually arouse the consumer but are also portrayed as sexually aroused themselves," Price said.

Such material has a double message.

"It not only legitimizes incest and child molestation, but also shows children enjoying it."

Basis of increase

Price traced the increase in pornographic materials to a decision in 1970 by the American Commission on Obscenity and Pornography. That body of 16 men and two women placed much weight on Danish studies done in the sixties by a researcher named Kutichinsky. He didn't distinguish between pornography, sex education and erotica. At the time only frontal nudity and pubic hair was shown in pornography.

The researcher found no link between pornography and vice and sexual crime. The U.S. commission found there was no link between pornography and violence. Because of the commission's recommenda-

Findings from a whole series of researchers show that exposure to violent pornography, even for a short period of time, promotes a negative attitude toward women.

Price said pornography reinforces traditional power and is a block to forming a warm caring relationship.

Janice Sich, of the Calgary Coalition Against Pornography, said as long as the pornographic industry is able to make money, it

President keys in on pornography

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — Kathryn Habberfield, the new president of Alberta Women's Institutes, expects pornography will be the AWI's major issue in the next year.

AWI branches are working on the issue now. The challenge is to make members aware of the problem, she said.

In other discussion of her new role, the Langdon district woman said she is the first provincial president to hold a job outside her home. She told members she would be delegating responsibility and if they found that a problem, they should nominate someone else.

Habberfield works three days a week in a Calgary women's clothing store. She says her boss, Don Hunter, is most understanding about giving her time off for AWI business since a former AWI president, Bette Ballhorn, is his mother-in-law.

Habberfield taught school for three years before she married and became a farm homemaker for 30 years. When her husband Gordon died almost six years ago, she didn't know what to do with all her time. A job was the solution.

A daughter and son-in-law, who works for an oil company, built a house about a mile away and rent the farm. Habberfield lives in the old farm home and commutes to Calgary to work. Her other married daughter works in real estate in Edmonton.

She says AWI has a bright future.

"Where else can you find an organization that has education at every meeting?"

"If we can make the organization a priority for young women and they find we're a worthwhile organization, they will join," she said.

Safety lessons always useful

By LIZ DELAHEY

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — Much has been accomplished by the farm safety program taken on by Alberta Women's Institutes, but the job is not done yet, Kaye Rowbottom told members at the annual convention.

The retiring president said women must learn to operate farm machinery so they can intervene in an emergency. She said two deaths could have been averted in the province had women known how to shut off the power takeoff, or reverse the tractor to release accident victims.

The 2400-member organization, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary, began co-operating with Alberta Agriculture's farm safety branch almost two years ago. AWI's safety coordinator, Dorothy Williams of Cessford, Alta., reported 30 safety workshops were held in 1983 with an average attendance of two dozen or more and another 20 have been scheduled or already held in 1984.

The institutes received a $2200 grant from Alberta Agriculture to help run the program in 1982 and Rowbottom, said in an interview, another $5200 had been received March 31. It will be used for workshops, television spots warning of home and farm safety hazards, bumper stickers and safety reminders to be put on farm machinery. The series of three minute television commercials, to be shot on the Rowbottom farm, will be given to local stations for public service announcements.

"We've found out the true way to a man's heart is through his stomach," Jones said. Workshops where WIs invited husbands to a potluck supper were the best attended.

The AWI safety workshops, which were co-ordinated provincially and carried out by branches, brought honor to two members. President Kaye Rowbottom of Drumheller and safety co-ordinator Dorothy Williams were presented with awards from Alberta Agriculture earlier this year.

Another project

While the safety program continues, the delegates also voted to retain another project-support for two native branches, the Cadotte Lake Cree Women's Institute and Little Buffalo Women's Institute. The Cadotte Lake Cree branch also has set up a play school and is looking forward to buying portable school rooms for a token amount and turning them into a WI community hall. Three members from these branches attended the convention.

Another project has reached a happy conclusion, Rowbottom reported. The $4000 provided by AWI and matched by CIDA for the Bangladesh Mahila Samity has bought sewing and embroidery machines to train women in the cottage crafts so they can earn money and enrich their lives. The project is under the umbrella of the Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW).

Senator Martha Bielish, who is area vice-president of the ACWW, told members regional meetings of the association will be held in Edmonton Nov. 8, 9 and 10 and in Truro, N.S. in May 1985. Primarily the meetings familiarize members with the way the international organization works and offer a forum for suggestions of how it could work better. Bielish said there will likely be a restricted enrolment.

At the national level, Bernice Noblitt, president of the Federated Womens Institutes of Canada, urged members to support the Adelaide Hoodless home fund so the goal of an 80,000 self sustaining fund could be reached by 1985, the end of her term.

Williams asked members to do an assessment in their areas of the number of disabled farmers to determine how many are trying to Supplying knitting and sewing machines to the Bangladesh Mahila Samity, a fellow member of the Associated Country Women of the World, has also rewarded the sponsor, the Alberta Women's Institutes.

Beryl Ballhorn, public relations officer for the AWI said the project has helped women in Bangladesh acquire new skills, while AWI members gain new friends and a feeling of kinship with the Samity members.

The project began following the ACWW Hamburg meeting in 1980 on the suggestion of former president Marie Plaizier, whose daughter had been in Bangladesh's capital, Dacca, and was aware of the need for training.

When the AWI learned the Mahila Samity needed knitting and sewing machines to train women to help support their families and gain some independence, $4000 was collected. Arrangements with the Canadian International Development Agency, which is responsible for administration of the project, were handled by Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. Through CIDA's matching grant system AWI's $4000 swelled to $16,000.

Ballhorn said trainees are interviewed and selected for admission. Classes are held for six months under trained instructors and Samity supervisors. After six months of training, three days a week, women are certified. Some are then employed in garment factories while others enter domestic projects of their own. Their work is also sent to the Mahila Samity sale centre.

There are six training shops in operation, two in Dacca where 22 sewing machines are used, one in the village of Manikid and two in Joar Shakhara. Thirteen knitting machines are in the Dacca centre one at the remote interior corner Shaskikar and one at Chandpur. Ballhorn said that gives 240 women the opportunity to receive training annually.

The project is closely supervised and now that progress reports have been received, the final $3000 has been sent by FWIC. It will be followed by CIDA's final payment to Mahila Samity covering administration costs.

Although the project is over as far as AWI is concerned, Ballhorn said it is gratifying to know the training opportunities will continue in Bangladesh.

Support for Project Urged

The following is part of a paper on the International Water Supply and Sanitation Decade, 1981 - 1990 (Project No.71) that was prepared by Marilee E. Kosik, Wabamun, Alberta. "To even try to understand the immensity of water and sanitation problems, we should be aware there are 100 million MORE people in the third world drinking unfit water than in 1975, and 400 million more have no proper sanitation. One half of the people of the world have no reasonable access to safe and adequate water supply. Lack of water and poor sanitation are responsible for disability, disease and death, particularly in infants and young children. Women, the world's water-bearers suffer severe hardships, especially if elderly or pregnant. Lack of plentiful and accessible clean water supply is the cause of three quarters of human illnesses in the developing countries, combined with lack of sanitation practices which are dependent on a water supply. More than 14,000 !! Imagine yourself as one of the 14,000 mothers who, each DAY see their children die - for many of these mothers, this is the second, third, fourth or maybe even fifth child they have seen die for these reasons. We seldom even think of these problems, what with our ready access to water and sanitary facilities, but try to imagine living without these basic necessities.

My reasons for exploring this subject are these: as an A.C.W.W. project, I feel we should make the effort to support our own organization by at least studying the subject; as Christian humans I feel that we should be aware of the suffering caused our fellowman by the lack of clean water, something we in Canada take for granted. I urge everyone, in one way or another, to support Project No. 71."

Congratulations Marie Kosik, for a well written paper. If any member should like to borrow the paper for further study, please contact me.

CENTRAL & WESTERN REGIONAL CONFERENCE
EDMONTON ALBERTA

Last week Edmonton hosted the Grey Cup; the week prior to that, an area conference of the Associated Country Women of the World. You heard about the Grey Cup — you heard nothing of the other gathering except through the Western Producer.

The area ACWW conference was a coming together of kind hearts and gentle people to study closely the international connection of their organizations. Provincial women's institutes, Women of Uniform, NFU women and Circles de Fermieres are all constituent societies of ACWW and while members are enthusiastic about the successful projects carried out in countries less fortunate than their own, few have coped with the elaborate constitution of ACWW, the multiplicity of committees and the power structure. Many attended the Vancouver World Conference and were plunged, quite unprepared, into consternation.

The Edmonton meeting was a unique opportunity to learn. It may well be the only occasion when so many of the key players of ACWW assemble as resource persons at a Western conference: Dr. Ellen McLean, world president of ACWW, a Canadian from Nova Scotia; two area vice-presidents, Jean Ehlinger for USA and Martha Bielish for Canada; as well as Marian Fulton of Manitoba, a member of the influential General Purposes Committee of ACWW. Good communicators all, they achieved that special rapport that surrounds the delegates so even as they go home enlightened, more importantly they feel bound in a fellowship of common goals and aspirations.

Perhaps in time the influence of this one meeting may help create a climate for peace and brotherhood.

I loved being there and meeting again all those wonderful Alberta women, especially the ones who worked like Trojans filling the pigeonholes at the Vancouver ACWW conference.

Red Deer Centre Women's Institute Attend Conference In Edmonton

The Red Deer Centre Women's Institute Consituency Convener, Doris Northey and six members from the Springvale, Pine Lake, Ridgewood and Balmoral W.I.'s attend the conference held in the Highway Motor Inn, Edmonton, November 8th - 10th. There were approximately 200 delegates present with Senator Martha Beilish, Area Vice President presiding over the conference.

Our World President, of A.C.W.W. from Eureka, Nova Scotia was the keynote speaker choosing as her topic; 'The A.C.W.W., Your Society and YOU'. There were representations from all members societies in Canada from coast to coast. Mrs. Jean Ehlinger, Area Vice-President of the United States also brought her greetings and expertise in Finance and General Purposes Committee.

The Associated Country Women of the World (A.C.W.W.) represents sixty countries and 9,000,000 members. The latest Society to be accepted is Poland with Rural Housewives, 1,300,000 women strong. Dr. Ellen McLean had the opportunity to visit the country and said that the women are strong achievers and very strong in their goals.

It was an opportunity to learn first hand of the world projects, structure, communication, illiteracy, agriculture, literacy, training, poverty and disease. All of these being concerns of our members as the Motto is 'For Home and Country'. It also is a non-governmental organization which meets at the United Nations with world problems.

PINE LAKE W.I. Jan.

Pine Lake Women's Institute began the new year with "International Youth Year" as its 1985 theme. P.E.I., the twin Canadian province, will also continue to be studied until June.

In contrast to the 1985 theme, Kathleen Lawrence concluded a series on "Coming of Aging." Mrs. Lawrence stressed that aging is universal, a normal stage of life and a privilege not enjoyed by previous generations. Weathering the years can best be accomplished by having a plan for your life, adapting to change, taking responsibility for your own life, keeping active, conserving energy, having a network of friends, and being hopeful and optimistic.

To commemorate the 30th anniversary of Pine Lake Women's Institute, the branch will publish a 1986 Pine Lake area calendar. These will be available mid-summer 1985.

Marion Brown received an award for the best 1984 program book.

President Kathleen Lawrence welcomed 14 members and 2 visitors to the September meeting.

Social Services convener Vera Pierce introduced guest speaker Diana Teleshnyk LL.B., who gave the program on battered women and shelters. Previous to 1970 battered women were ignored. The year 1982 saw approved funding for a shelter for battered women. In 1983 in Red Deer, the shelter became a reality - a place for battered women and their children, if any, to find refuge. Discussion and questions followed the presentation, making everyone present more aware of the problems of the battered woman.

The Pine Lake W. I. has forwarded a letter to the A. W. I. office to express concern for the lack of legislation defining pornographic material. The branch has also put its support behind the Canadian Coalition Against Pornography. The C.C.A.P. will feature a full page advertisement in the Calgary Herald on Friday, September 27, 1985.

PINE LAKE W.I. NEWS

Doris Warke, Constituency Convener for International Affairs spoke of rural women in Africa.

In Kenya over 80 percent of the food is produced by women, yet they are prevented by tradition from inheriting land and passing it on to their daughters. Women who now work outside the home sometimes band together as a group to enable them to buy land. They want it as security for their children... but then it is left to the sons. Change has been occurring - perhaps there will be a change for their daughters.

Nairobi hosted Forum 85 - a forum that focused on the role of the rural woman in food production. Elaine Driver, president of the National Farmer's Union took part as a resource person for the Associated Country Women of the World's Workshop on women as producers, managers and entrepreneurs.

President, Kathleen Lawrence, presented a quiz on slogans of the parkland.

Pennies for friendship were collected for the A.C.W.W. office fund. Twelve members recognized World Food Day with a Potluck Supper of Irish dishes.

Annual Family Christmas Supper - 27 in attendance

In her toast to the HUSBANDS, Marion Brown said, "Someone asked me the other day if I was ready for Christmas. I just don't seem to worry so much anymore. However, I can remember well the day when this evening was the deadline to finish Marjorie's and Debra's new dresses. This was usually the first Christmas party. Where have these past 29 years gone? As a mother of three young children, I needed Women's Institute to expand, to grow, to feel good about myself. Only with the help and support of my husband and family could I attend our branch meetings, conferences, conventions and workshops. It was even more fun when Roy could come too! Now as we look at ourselves many of us find our children making their own homes, raising their own families. However we still need W.I. We need each other. We need to feel good about ourselves. I can equate with Mrs. Beckingsale at an August meeting expressing her joy in seeing everyone after no meeting in July. Thank you Husbands and Families for allowing us all these gifts of home, of community, of country. Following World President Dr. Ellen McLean's example of publically thanking her dairyman husband for his love and support, may I propose a toast to our HUSBANDS and FAMILIES. Ladies please rise with me."

Farm women seek recognition

By SHERYL NIXON

PENHOLD — The old saying that "women's work is never done," takes on a different twist on the farm.

"We've never had to struggle for our share of the work," Faye Mayberry says with an ironic smile.

"But the work we do is undervalued and under-recognized."

The many hours of unpaid labor that women contribute to family farm operations is a major concern that needs to be addressed by governments and financial institutions, says the 45-year-old who chairs the Alberta Farm Women's Network.

"We're told we don't work," Mrs. Mayberry says. "If a woman is not a farmer in her own right — in terms of owning land and so on — it's not very easy for her to get a bank loan."

The umbrella group she heads is doing a survey to document the work women do on farms. Calling it "a labor of love only," the network asked its members to keep track of the work they do for three months. That includes farm chores, running equipment, handling livestock, "gophering," bookkeeping, child care and involvement in agricultural organizations.

W.I Convene A Workshop

The Gray Nun Regional Centre was the home for approximately fifty members of the Alberta Women's Institute Executive, Directors and the Constituency Conveners from January 20th - 23rd inclusive. The Workshop was an extensive study of the factions that will enable our members to do their best in their communities. Norma Farquharson, the keynote speaker gave a seminar on 'Communicating Assertively' to all those conveners and anyone who joined for the afternoon. Aileen Kritzing, an A.W.I. member, gave an enlightening class on 'Writing a Resolution'. This also included the parliamentary procedure in presenting resolutions. Shirley Myers, Head of Home Economics Branch, Alberta Agriculture, told the ladies of how their department can always be of assistance in their branch meetings, handicraft judging and as an information bureau. 'Effective Speaking' by Sharon Bazant of St. Albert was a highlight. It does not matter when we speak, but it taught us how to always be ready to meet the challenge. The Provincial Education Conveners of the A.W.I. presented their goals and accomplishments in a panel.

These workshops are held once a year for the executive and conveners, but their expenses were paid through a grant from the Wild Rose Foundation this time.

Women protest pornography

By NANCY BROWN
of The Advocate

Feb. 19/86

Alberta Women's Institute members are participating in a week-long boycott of stores selling pornographic material.

Members finding pornographic material in stores will approach store managers to tell them of the ban.

The idea for the province-wide ban came from Judith Hazlett-Dennehy of Balmoral Women's Institute, located just north of Red Deer.

She made the suggestion at last May's annual convention in Olds, says Balmoral member Jennifer Lund, Mrs. Hazlett-Dennehy's sister.

"You shouldn't be able to buy milk from the same store you buy pornographic magazines," said Mrs. Lund.

She said members agreed there's an increasing danger of acceptance of pornography because of continued exposure to it.

"We're concerned about all pornography, about becoming immune to it. And then you push it a little bit further," said Mrs. Lund.

The province's 159 branches has 2,500 members; nine branches in the Red Deer area from Innisfail to Lacombe have 132 members. All have promised to boycott stores that handle magazines dealing with pornography.

Provincial president Kathryn Hubberfield said today members will urge store managers to discontinue selling particular magazines, or move them where they can't be seen by youngsters.

Members are especially concerned about "violence with a sexual connotation — not only with women, but men as well."

Executive members last year viewed a slide presentation on pornography that showed one magazine suggesting "incest is fun, try it with a youngster," said Mrs. Hubberfield. "That's sickening."

Members aren't identifying particular magazines or stores, said Red Deer Centre convenor Doris Northey, who added the ban is on "violence as opposed to erotica."

"Stores throughout Alberta, if they're carrying pornographic material, will be boycotted," said Pat Mayne, president of Highway Women's Institute, a local branch including Red Deer and rural areas south.

Provincial members chose this method to commemorate Founders Week, celebrating Adelaide Hoodless who founded the first Women's Institute in 1897. Begun in Ontario, the association now has branches throughout the world.

AWI joins in fight against pornography

Due to the ever-increasing availability of pornographic material, the Alberta Women's Institute has made pornography one of its major concerns for the coming year.

While it is difficult to define pornography to the satisfaction of everyone, Maude Barlow, a consultant on women's issues, explains it as "verbal or pictorial material which represents or describes sexual behaviour that is degrading or abusive to one or more of the participants in such a way as to endorse the degradation."

industries combined; in 1982 there were 264 different child porn magazines available; and over sixty percent of the films bought by video recorder owners were X-rated.

As chairman of the Alberta Women's Institute's Committee on Pornography, I find the messages conveyed by pornography frightening. It is appalling to know that some men want to master, hurt, torture, and even kill, women.

"Not a Love Story", a National Film Board offering, was one of the first productions to shock audiences into numbed silence. Last spring, while attending a workshop on pornography, I viewed a ghastly slide presentation of clips from magazines and video tapes, all tation and distribution of hard-core pornographic material in Canada.

But we have come to realize that to be more effective we must educate our members and the general public. Many people have no awareness of the issue others avoid it entirely. Those who have confronted it have reacted with shocked horror.

The AWI will have knowledgeable speakers and visual presentations on the programs of upcoming institute conferences and meetings. These meetings are open to the public. Members are being asked to be aware of the "five foot by-law" pornographic material in stores should be placed at least five feet above the floor and behind a barrier. If such

WI KEEPS CURRENT

The Alberta Women's Institute, which started about 1912, is one of the oldest farm women's groups in the province. Yet, the AWI has never seemed to show its age too much. Many functions are basically in continuing education but the WI also attempts to make women aware of what the issues are. Change in the Alberta Women's Institutes has come, according to president Kathryn Habberfield, with the change in issues. She says the WI has had "quite an influence through the years in gradually getting things changed because we've been hammering away at it."

Over the years, Habberfield says, women and circumstances have changed. The pioneer women of the 1900's "primarily wanted to have something that was social and that was probably why they formed these WIs" some of which are over 75 years old. Today, however, young women aren't interested in chit chat over tea and cookies. "What we're doing now is quite different and I don't believe that image is with us any longer," says Habberfield. In fact, with more women working off the farm, ferrying their children to music lessons or sporting events, and keeping the books, there's almost too much social involvement and not enough quiet time. Yet, women still want to further their education and many look to the WI for fulfillment.

As society as a whole has grappled with women's rights, pensions, and equality for pay, the AWI has kept pace. That has given rural women a strong voice in the development of public policy. The main issues WI is dealing with today are things like battered spouses (they want to set up a crisis line throughout Alberta to offer counselling and support), pornography (they've held rural workshops to inform people of the nature and extent of porn), abuse of children and the elderly, and other current social issues of provincial or national concern.

The younger women of the WI have also expressed a need to know more about the operation and management of their farms. Habberfield says many of them are involved in keeping the books than they were 15 years ago. So, in more recent years, the WI has sponsored seminars conducted by farm management and financial specialists. In fact, she says, "We're studying an awful lot about farm (management) because you can't change things unless you know what you are talking about."

Habberfield says farm women today are not afraid to speak up and women's organizations have been the "training ground", giving them the experience and confidence to speak their mind clearly. "Then when they go to meetings such as Unifarm they can get up and speak intelligently and not be intimidated by men and be listened to." The inside experience is paying off. "I've been at Unifarm meetings where women were politely listened to and then they sat down and the men went ahead with their meeting. Now I notice that some of those young women will stand up and speak and the men will go ahead from point. It's a wonderful thing to see happening."

EDMONTON (Staff) — Fourteen women have been appointed to Alberta's advisory council on women's issues.

Included in the appointments was Kathryn Habberfield, president of the Alberta's Women's Institute.

The time is now ripe for women to take a bigger role in the shaping of agricultural policy but Habberfield says "they should not do it to the detriment of men. I'd like to see a balance."

Women's organizations serve as a training ground says Kathryn Habberfield.

Dr. Ellen McLean:

Speaking for 9 million women

By LIZ DELAHEY

KILLARNEY, Ireland (Staff) — Stop the navel gazing and get on with the work of ACWW was Ellen McLean's call to action at the 18th triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World.

The Nova Scotia farm woman was unopposed for her second term as the president of the nine million member organization linking rural women and homemakers in 300 societies in over 60 countries of the world.

The sprawling organization works for improved rural conditions by promoting leadership training courses and assisting member societies with income-generating projects, water projects, literacy training and nutrition education. Through consultative status with a number of UN bodies it keeps the agencies informed about the needs and concerns of rural women.

Streamlining of the organization began in McLean's first term with a move to a more modern office building in London, acquisition of a computer and development by the general purposes committee of a plan of work for the next three years.

Restructuring the organization, an attempt that failed at the strife-ridden 1983 conference, took a major step forward as delegates at the 1986 conference considered 50 amendments to the constitution.

McLean said in an interview that she was pleased with the move to a board of directors for the association. She said it will make the group more representative with members from around the world making the decisions. But she recognized the increased financial burden.

It will cost about $60,000 more over the next three years of administration to bring in members for meetings. That means people will have to dig that much deeper into their pockets to provide Pennies for Friendship, the voluntary fund that covers administration of the ACWW.

The financial committee has come up with a scheme that would cover the increased costs, she said. Each member will be asked to add to their annual contribution an amount equal to one loaf of bread.

At the conference opening, McLean queried whether a change in format — with meetings and a seminar rather than a seven-day conference — would make it easier for those from developing countries to get travel assistance from their governments. And she scolded some member societies who collect Pennies for Friendship and then skim some off the top for their own organization. She questioned why some member societies don't work through ACWW for their international development projects.

Asked about the greying of ACWW members, McLean said it is naturally of concern to her. The program has to be attractive to young women, she said, and another problem is the difficulty for younger women to give time to voluntary organizations because so many of them are employed full-time.

As for future goals, McLean plans leadership training for the officers in September. Most of them have had no training in setting up projects, writing proposals, monitoring and evaluating projects.

And they'll be doing more training for women in managerial and marketing skills. To help women take the recommendations from the conference to their own governments McLean would also like to see lobbying workshops.

"We're partners in action with our member societies. We need to strengthen the partnership and speed up the action."

Canadian Ellen McLean continues as president of the Associated Country Women of the World (top).

Beth Brandys, President, Canadian UNICEF Committee

An international UNICEF Week to be celebrated by rural women around the world?

This is the dream of one of UNICEF's chief boosters, Dr. Ellen McLean of Eureka, Nova Scotia, international president of the Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW), an organization of nine million women in 68 countries and the international body of the Women's Institutes.

"Of course, we could start the UNICEF Week here in Canada," Dr. McLean comments. "The Women's Institutes (WI) have always had such close ties with UNICEF Canada, that strengthening international bonds is a natural progression."

Actually, WI collaboration with UNICEF predates the Canadian Committee. Prior to UNICEF Canada being founded in 1955, Women's Institutes in many provinces collected for UNICEF and sent the money directly to UNICEF Headquarters in New York. WI branches still continue to raise funds for UNICEF through the provincial committees and the FWIC, Federated Women's Institutes of Canada is a corresponding organization of the Canadian UNICEF Committee, and has co-operated with UNICEF on many development projects.

Recently re-elected for her second three-year term as president of the ACWW, Dr. McLean has been active with the Women's Institutes since 1953. She was president of the Nova Scotia Women's Institutes from 1963-65, and national president of the FWIC from 1973-76.

A native of Manitoba and a graduate of the McGill Library School, Dr. McLean is fluent in five languages, including English, Danish, French, Spanish and German. Before her marriage, she worked with the ILO, International Labor Organization, in Geneva.

She and her husband, John McLean, who is president of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, live on a fifth generation family farm in Pictou County, Nova Scotia.

Yolande Calvé is Canada's new area vice-president for the Associated Country Women of the World.

Born, raised and married in Maniwaki, Que., she has been a member of La Cercles de Fermieres de Quebec for 43 years.

She has served as provincial director, secretary and is now treasurer of the 67,597-member organization. She was treasurer for the Canadian Conference Committee that looked after local arrangements for the 1983 ACWW conference.

Calvé said she hopes to develop better contacts with the 14 ACWW constituent societies in Canada through a newsletter or other means because members are often unaware of each other's activities.

Leda Jensen of Hussar, Alta., Evelyn Potter of Biggar, Sask., and Doreen MacInnis of Prince Edward Island were also in the running for area vice-president of Canada. Calvé replaces Sen. Martha Bielish of Warspite, Alta.

Irene Spry of Ottawa was made a member of honor of the association in recognition of her work as a former member of the executive committee and council of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Nowhere is the spirit of voluntary community service more apparrant than in the Women's Institute.

Every meeting, whether local or regional, the members must report convincingly on what they're doing for their fellow citizens. One is struck by the rare beauty and unexcelled courtesy they exhibit toward each other and their surrounding society; mostly, the rural environment of Canada whose quality of life they have unstintingly promoted these 100 years.

Backgrounding the Red Deer Constituency Conference at Pine Lake Hub Centre, last month, was the theme of voluntariness which threads through the WI fabric like loving stitches in a very large tapestry.

PUBLIC DEBUT — Canada's new one-dollar coin, featuring a portrait of the loon, made its public debut recently at the Royal Canadian Mint's Winnipeg plant. The new dollar coin is eleven-sided, yellow-gold in colour, and only slightly larger and heavier than a 25-cent coin. It begins circulating across the country in July. 1987

Constituency conference embraced the future

By Donna MacKenzie

"Toward Tomorrow" was the theme of the 67th conference of Red Deer Centre constituency of the Women's Institute, held in the attractive Pine Lake Hub Centre. It was attended by 61 members, 10 guests, and a number of children.

Guest speakers were Holly Hallett, 2nd vice-president of Alberta Women's Institute, Rev. Michael Stonhouse, and Don Towers of the Red Deer County Fire Dept.

Mr. Towers acknowledged Red Deer Centre's support of the County fire prevention program, and emphasized our target is the avoidance of rural residential fires.

Louise Pickering of Balmoral conducted a short memorial service for constituency members who passed away in the past year, Edna Wright of Lacombe 4-Point WI and Violet Hay of Highway WI.

Marion Brown, president of Pine Lake WI, welcomed all present members and guests. District Director Faye Mayberry urged us to be Aware, Involved and Motivated. She noted there are 603 members in District 3.

Grace Grover of Blackfalds was the official hostess for the morning, with Helen Williams of Lacombe hosting the afternoon. Helen Steele of Springvale was pianist.

Two very special presentations were featured. One was the presentation of a fine WI showcase, presented by the Hay family in memory of their mother, Violet Hay.

Winner of the Violet Hay Needlework Award was Elleen Ford of Penhold. Also presented was the Doris Beckingsale Knitting Award plaque, given by Mr. Beckingsale and his daughters into the permanent custody of Pine Lake branch, as they have dominated the winning of it throughout its 10-year history. Lastest winner will retain it this year.

A bright note was added by several youngsters from the Pine Lake Play School, who sang songs for us, accompanied on the guitar by their teacher, Laura Baxter, who also explained the program.

New educational conveners were elected. For International Affairs Charlene Pickering; Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Kathy Bickley; Handicraft, Vi Moore; Education and Cultural Activities, Lily Clutton; Environment and Conservation, Annie Van Lent; Social Services, Helen Williams; Citizenship and Legislation, Mildred Miller. Sixteen persons participated in the Local Industries Tour. The Split Rock Natural Spring Water Plant was explained in detail by Mr. Keith Rowland who presented each of those present with a sample of the water.

The Pesticide Safety presentation by Lynn Stegman was timely and pertinent for this cultivation season. She emphasized the need to read and follow instructions on pesticide containers.

Observance of caution signs are very important for maintenance of good health.

Home economics convener, Irma Lawrence outlined the plans for the annual coffee party in Hub Centre Hall.

A motion was made that we, as a branch, contact the County of Red Deer requesting that garbage containers be placed at the route map signs at the north and south ends of Secondary Highway 816, south.

For her program, environmental conservation, Edna Whittemore touched on many topics, among which were:

1. Noticeable reduction in the number of Purple Martins returning to this area, caused by pesticide poisoning in the States.
2. Chemical emissions at the Red Deer Regional Hospital range from 100 to 300 ppm. The provincial standards allow 100 ppm.
3. The New York garbage barge cannot find a landfill site to accept its 3,000 tonnes of refuse.
4. Acid rain is killing Ontario maple trees.
5. Black Rhinos are killing rain forests. Do we destroy the Rhinos and save the rain forests, or, save the Rhinos and lose the rain forests?

Edna also gave out information about companion planting in the garden. First aid for pesticide poisoning and protective clothing for pesticide use.

Pine Lake Branch will purchase a membership in C.A.W.E.S.

Birthday greetings for May were for Gayle Olson, Vera Pierce and Millie Munro.

Centre gives help to disabled farmers

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — A special centre to help disabled farmers return to the farm has received unanimous support from Alberta Women's Institutes.

An AWI resolution urged government funding for the University of Alberta's new occupational performance assessment unit.

Reg Urbanowski, fieldwork co-ordinator in the occupational therapy department, said the unit focuses on educational and vocational areas.

"Once the disease, accident is over, the key is to survive," he said.

In order to be effective, services must be flexible, individually-tailored and adaptable to the rural environment.

The unit, which uses the facility and staff of the university, would like government funding to help it expand its service and add staff. A mobile van, for example, could be added to deliver services to rural communities.

The unit assesses the disability and sees how well clients can cope with tasks like mounting the tractor or getting to fields.

Farm workplaces have special seasonal, environmental challenges and are unlikely to be handicap-accessible like urban offices.

Urbanowski said three to five percent of the farming community have been disabled by accidents or disease.

Age to change with the times

Stay middle of the road

REN MORRISON

(Staff) — Women must acquire an income for themselves, said president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

When mother widowed during the 1950s, she said women have to equip themselves with the ability to take care of themselves, provide for their futures and not be dependent on others.

Women's institutes provided women isolated by distance in the early years of farming with fellowship with other women and information on homemaking practice and health care standards.

Today, the institutes examine teenage pregnancy, resources for disabled farmers and are waging a war on pornography.

They help with training of Third World women, oppose false incentives to grow crops there are no markets for and help relieve the stress of farm families in difficult times.

Reeves said WIs continue to thrive because they have changed with the times, yet still maintained a middle of the road approach that appeals to all. More radical groups representing only one side or one issue will have shorter lifespans, she said.

WIs believe women should have the right to choose and make their own decisions, said Reeves, noting affordable, accessible, quality daycare must be available to help them achieve the goals.

She sees WI's role in helping improve conditions for women around the world. "By joining a group and becoming a strong unit, they can be much more effective in promoting change," she said.

During the convention, AWI agreed on a new project to bring a woman from a Third World nation to the Associated Country Women of the World conference in 1989.

The group builds confidence in women, but also strengthens their leadership and involvement in the community and the institute.

That role must continue she said, noting, "We must not just be seen as tea drinkers, but project what we do realistically."

She conceded declining membership, and an aging membership are a concern, but hopes an improved image will help.

New AWI president Beryl Ballhorn of Wetaskiwin hopes moving meetings from the afternoon is one way to bring in working women, noting the new council will be involved in recruiting new members.

The new AWI executive also includes first vice-president Holly Hallett of Carleton Place and second vice-president Shirleyn Hammer of Olds.

The August meeting, usually the month when guests are present, was attended by 13 members, but no guests.

The annual Jelly Project is set to go with sugar and MCP pectin crystals having been purchased. Members are asked to collect small and junior-sized baby food jars, also 9 to 12 oz. sized jars.

On July 18 the branch members assisted at the 25th wedding anniversary open house of Bob and Irma Lawrence.

Marion Brown reported briefly on the Provincial W.I. Convention held in Olds. She was branch delegate and expressed appreciation for the opportunity of attending. She values the knowledge gained and the friendships formed. She also stressed the importance of every member reading the Report Book.

Arnold & Trish Pierce Honored

The County of Red Deer refused our request for garbage containers on Secondary Highway 816, but at their suggestion the request and the County's reply will be forwarded to the Pine Lake Tourist Association.

For roll call each member reported on highlights of their summer activities and expectations for the balance of the year.

Following the business meeting and prior to adjournment, the president conducted a short quiz contest.

Part II

The September meeting was opened with these words by the president: "September days are here, With summer's best of weather, and autumn's best of cheer."

With nine varieties of fruit or juice having been collected, the annual homemade jelly project is ready to begin.

Pine Lake Branch will sponsor a leadership seminar early in the New Year to which local groups and neighboring W.I. branches will be invited.

Red Cross knitting yarn was available for the winter knitting projects, with the information that easy-knit vests in all sizes are needed, as well as sewn place-mat sets.

Educational convener, Annie Allen's program for September was Health. The following topics were presented:

1. Fancy diets are not needed to help lose weight. Losing weight is a

North American mania, but not necessarily without basis. Obesity is generally caused by diets excessive in fat and by inactivity.

Questions most often asked of the nutrition experts by those who want to lose weight are (a) How can I lose 10 lbs. quickly? Answer—You can't. It is better to lose weight slowly and regularly than quickly and briefly. (b) "What special diet can I follow to lose my cellulite?" Answer—None! Cellulite is nothing more than fat and as you gradually lose weight you will lose cellulite as you eliminate fat." (c) Can I lose weight by eating one grapefruit a day?" Answer—No! (d) "Is perspiration-producing special clothing an effective method for losing weight?" Answer—No. You only risk dehydration.

2. Fasting—When and How—The Religious approach. A Fast Day is a day on which a person takes no food until midday. Then he has a properly satisfying meal and has another light meal in the evening, without meat.

3. When in Grande Prairie, AB, the Duke and Duchess of York visited the Crystal Park School for the seriously handicapped. The school was developed after extensive lobbying of the government by the Board of the Grande Prairie School District. The school is unique in Canada and worth a visit.

There are 550 "regular" students in kindergarten through grade nine and 120 special education students from two-and-half to 18-years-old with disabilities ranging from severe-multiple to mild.

May 8 - 10 we were involved with a booth at the 1987 Red Deer Women's Show. All branches were involved in baking cookies for cookie plates for Meals on Wheels in Red Deer. This was a project of Highway branch but due to a small membership were unable to do this alone so it is now a constituency project. 72 plates of cookies, complete with an orange and a candy cane were delivered. The balance of the cookies went to Central Alberta Women's Emergency Shelter. Blackfalds celebrated their 40th anniversary in February. A number of the branches have held their leadership workshops.

Pine Lake - Kathleen Lawrence

A pot luck supper in the McCullough Room of the Allen Bungalow at the Kerry Wood Nature Centre preceded the monthly meeting. This was of special interest to our senior member, Mrs. E. Annie Allen, as her husband's father Geo. Allen had built the bungalow in the early 1900's.

Environment educational convenor Edna Whittemore introduced Jim Robertson, Waskasoo Park Naturalist, Kerry Wood Nature Centre, who explained the reason for the Nature Centre, then took us for a short tour through the Centre. This was followed by a walk to one of the observation platforms overlooking part of Gaetz Lake Santuary.

Regular meeting, back at the Allen Bungalow, was called to order by President Marion Brown with the reading of a poem The Blessing. The Creed was repeated and the May birthdays of Vera Pierce, Gayle Olson and Millie Munro were recognized.

The correct procedure for handling agricultural chemicals was emphasized at the Pesticide Use Update program held at the Pine Lake Hall in April. The five persons present were made aware of the danger to health as a result of not using proper clothing when handling pesticides.

In the annual Red Deer Centre Constituency handicraft competition held in March, Dorothy Herbert placed third in the individual high class with 65 points. She also placed in the over 80 class and in the over 90 class. E. Annie Allen placed with 34 points.

$260 was collected and forwarded to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Final plans were made for the annual coffee party to be held in the Pine Lake Hall, June 1.

A $12 membership for Kerry Wood Nature Centre was purchased.

Charter member, Vera Pierce, was honored along with about 60 other women, at a Salute to Women banquet at the Capri Centre sponsored by the Central Alberta Women's Emergency Shelter. Vera was a member of the Amazons hockey team that won the provincial championship in the early 1930's. Vera played defence.

Doris Warke will be branch delegate to the Provincial Alberta Women's Institute Convention in Olds in June. Lillie Clutton, Wanda Andrews, Irma Lawrence and Kathleen Lawrence will help the provincial handicraft co-ordinator on June 2 to unpack and arrange articles for judging.

A letter will be sent to Mayor McGhee expressing delight that the City and CP Rail have negotiated a new rail line that bypasses sensitive areas of Maskepetoon Park.

Council defends right to speak for all women

By PAUL McLOUGHLIN

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — A past president of Alberta Women's Institutes defended the Alberta Advisory Council on Women's Issues before her former colleagues recently.

Kathryn Habberfield, now a member of the council, told the AWI's annual meeting that the council must represent all women to the provincial government, not the positions of a particular kind whether they be radical feminists or homemakers.

The council has come under fire since its creation, both for the type of members appointed and for the stands taken on issues.

In April of this year the Calgary YWCA concluded that the council "is not well informed on women's issues, is not communicating effectively with Alberta women's groups and is not exerting any influence on government policy."

Despite the attacks, Habberfield said the council has made progress in several areas.

"If progress has been slower than desired in other areas — and we have received considerable criticism — we realize that this goes with the territory," she said.

"The advisory council must present all positions to the Alberta government and women must respect the needs of others while addressing their own concerns."

Habberfield said there are many common concerns like violence in the family that have been taken forward to government. The council has pressed for government action in the areas of family violence, child care, minimum wage, women's health and birth control counselling, she said.

A major priority in the coming year will be to stimulate discussion on the issues raised by new reproductive technologies, she said. The council, in conjunction with women's advisory councils in other provinces, is pressing the federal government for a royal commission on the issues involved.

In a resolution the AWI called on the federal and provincial governments to study the ethics of such technology.

AWI members disagree over farm foreclosure aid

By PAUL McLOUGHLIN

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — A backlash against farmers looking for help from foreclosure action surfaced at a farm women's meeting here recently.

Elna Edlund wanted support from the Alberta Women's Institutes annual meeting for a resolution asking lending institutions to lease farms in financial difficulty back to the operators. In an emotional appeal to the delegates, Edlund said such a policy would allow the farm family time to stabilize their lives and make decisions about their future.

She failed to persuade at least one delegate. Irene Onody spoke against the resolution saying the flood of emotionalism for foreclosed farmers has been blown out of proportion by the media.

She said there is a large group of farmers who have made their payments, lived frugally and used old machinery who are not in financial difficulty. To help out those in trouble would be unfair to those who succeeded; it would just be throwing good money after bad, Onody said.

But the latter arguments didn't sway the meeting and the resolution passed 62 to 32.

AWI also passed a resolution condemning Bill C-72, the new federal bilingual legislation.

AWI feels the bill is unfair to the English speaking majority in Western Canada because it creates "excessive and unnecessary" expense to taxpayers. The group also believes that it endangers the employment possibilities of unilingual people within the federal public service.

Beryl Ballhorn, AWI president, said that the resolution will be taken to the Federated Women's Institutes annual meeting and letters will be sent to Alberta MPs on the issue.

The meeting also endorsed a dues increase from $7 to $10 per member. The 2300-member organization is in the midst of a membership drive as part of its 80th anniversary celebration.

Federated Women's Institutes Of Canada Triennial Convention

Shaping our Tomorrows Today, was the theme of the eleventh National Triennial Convention of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, held June 23 - 27 in St. John's, Newfoundland.

In her opening address, Sylvia Gold, President of the Canadian Advisory Council on the Status of Women, told delegates, rural women continue to make an invaluable contribution to our society and it is a contribution that has, for a long period of time, gone unrecognized. Women's increasingly essential contribution to the farm is evident when one looks back through the years. In 1921 less than 2% of the Canadian agricultural labour force was female; by 1981, 20% was female. About one third of farm women are working off the farm to supplement the family income and contribute an additional 36 hours a week of work in the home. Ms. Gold feels we must continue to support women candidates to get them elected into both provincial and federal offices if government policy is to reflect the concerns of women and families. She says what we need is more women working within the party (political) structures at a high level. Women must be part of the decision making groups in order to help new women candidates overcome the obstacles that politics place in their paths. Ms. Gold thinks these 3 words are appropriate for women for the next few years. Innovation - must come from women who can propose different solutions to problems for the betterment of all. Vigilance - to recognize new threats to the social, economic and legal status of women. Courage - to move ahead despite setbacks, to challenge, to suggest new ways of doing things. We are trying to reshape our lives, to make our own decisions and to take responsibility for those decisions. We must take action to help improve the status of women and I believe the political process offers the best opportunities to do this.

A panel discussion entitled "The Future of Women in the Community" was moderated by President-Elect, FWIC, Jennie McInnes. Panelists were Dale Dewar - Deputy Minister of Agriculture, PEI; Moriel MacDonald Finigan, Dartmouth, NS; Dr. Hubert Kitchie, St. John's Nfld; and Dr. Cheri Bethune, St. John's, Nfld.

Other featured speakers were Dr. Margaret Fulton who spoke on our theme. She said we are still faced with threat of extinction through ecological damage to our environment and through genetic deterioration. Add to that all of the problems related to sterility, reproductive experimentation and genetic engineering and the human race might well ask, what shape will tomorrow be. We indeed need to set about total transformation of society. Women now have a special role to play in finding a creative society as opposed to our current death-dealing one. Dr. Fulton also feels the way to accomplish this is through the political process. As women and men re-examine all aspects of past thought, with a new openness, a genuine transformation of the human race may become possible. No past concepts, no matter how valid they may once have seemed, can be left unexamined. Ultimately, we must evolve into an alternative society, where both sexes share the same goals. The very theme of this conference indicates the courage of the Women's Institutes of Canada, to recognize the problems facing our larger society and courageously to undertake the difficult task of re-thinking and re-shaping our society, now, today, or there will be no tomorrow.

Dr. Ellen McClean, President of the Associated Country Women of the World told us that women food producers face the same problems world wide. She said we share a citizenship of the world, with this goes responsibility. She introduced to delegates Faikah Tepoli, from our sister organization in Malaysia. FWIC has raised money to sponsor Faikah to study social development at Antigonish University, NB.

Resolutions dealt with during the convention concerned: changes to the Young Offenders Act asking that parents of children involved in crime be held responsible for the vandalism and petty theft committed; that we inform CRIC of our concern regarding auto manufacturers' TV commercials that suggest unsafe driving practises; that we urge Environment Canada to conduct a thorough investigation by independent sources of any proposals of the nature of the selling of our fresh water supplies to countries beyond our borders; urge Department of Employment and Immigration to better screen immigrants to Canada for the Aids virus; for legislation to make 3-point seat belts for rear passengers mandatory. Also passed were some changes to FWIC constitution and they are looking into the possibility of meeting the needs of the hard of hearing during FWIC conventions and meetings.

Ladies who threatened the Prairies

Red Deer County News, August 12, 1988

By Don Towers

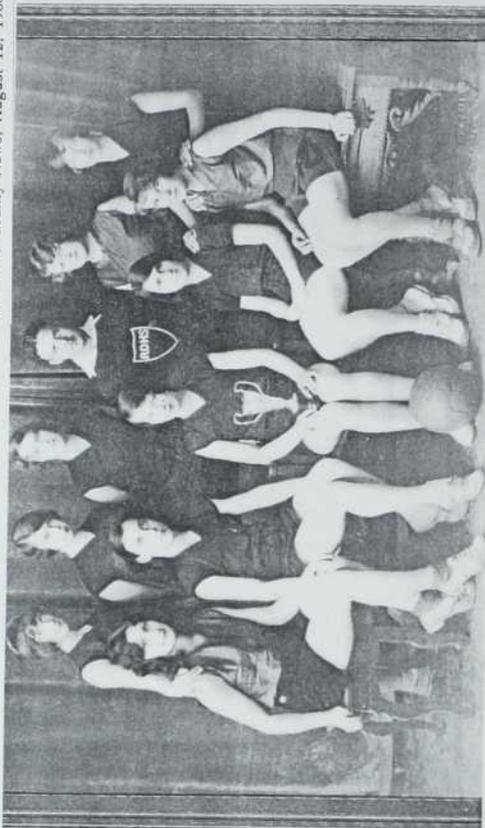

To know these cultured ladies, serene in the security of life's accomplishments, one is astonished to learn they were part of one of the most formidable hockey teams to contend the sport. And win, consistently.

Alluding here to the Red Deer Amazons, a team of young women who 60 years ago, and more, were the scourge of rinks and arenas from the Rocky Mountains to Winnipeg. In an era when all-female hockey teams were rare they ranked with Percy Page's Edmonton Grads for supremacy in their sport, played on the same size of ice and under the same rules as men, and who were just as determined.

"We played to win; no question about that," said Mrs. Vera Pierce in her snug farm home west of Pine Lake. Recalling the heady days when she and many other Amazons plowed their way to the top of the Prairie leagues, the former Vera Houston said the achievements owed much to a prevailing thought that education and athletics were inseparable. "A sound mind in a sound body," meant canvassing the town's businesses for support and staging all sorts of outrageous schemes for the train fare. One business always came through with sufficient wampum for the outings and that was the Club Cafe, owned and operated by Charlie Chuck and George Moon. Known as "Bid" to her teammates, the young Vera Houston was a member of the early 1930s team that couldn't lose.

Red Deer Museum and Archives yielded an outline of the Amazon's golden decade when in March 1933 it took the Coffey Memorial Trophy after defeating Drumheller. For the next five years it was the Ladies Intermediate Hockey champion. The win was repeated in March 1934 when team stick-handled to top senior place after defeating the Manitoba and Saskatchewan teams. Winnipeg's Largely unsung but consistent go-getters in inter-provincial high school basketball the Red Deer High School hoop team was interchangeable with The Amazons, often at the same time. Standing, left to right, are: Audrey Stephenson (now Mrs. Austin); Marion Hanna (Mrs. Henry Bjorkeland); Frances Gordon (Mrs. Oswin Mills); coach Charlie Howe of PTS; Lorraine Hogg (Mrs. Morris); and Catherine Hunter. Seated, left to right, Marjory Marshall (Mrs. Kerry Wood); Billie Trueman (Mrs. Dick Whiteside); Adelyne Stephenson (Mrs. McPherson); Vera Houston (Mrs. Eric Pierce); Margaret Johns (Mrs. Bill Yuill). Picture taken about 1930.

EQUAL IN THE CHAMPION BUSINESS

While scrapping during a game would seem to have been beneath the ladies of the league, Vera owned that, sometimes penalties were plentifully dished out.

Body checking by some of the bigger girls of all teams, she explained, often was sufficient to knock the fillings out of your teeth. The games could be raw, she put in, "but they were not as dirty as the men's."

Amazons muscle, she remembered, was organized by expert bone rattlers Velma Trimble, Betty Mahaffy and Florence Gaetz. "They could be very aggressive," Bid said, sweetly.

Vera's sister, Page Houston, was Amazon goalie many times and later played with the Calgary Pats. The urge to hockey ran strong in the family genes.

GOALTENDER MARSHALL Former Amazons player Mrs. Marjory Wood lives in Kaiser's Crossing district, keeps fit walking and is right arm of author-naturalist Kerry Wood.

Born in Calgary and raised in Red Deer, after 1912, Bid Houston got her teaching certificate from Cumrose Normal in 1928, taught first at Carril School, north of Sylvan Lake, then at Service School, near Delburne, 1929. She returned to Red Deer in 1930 to upgrade her high school diploma at Red Deer High School where her friendship with the Amazons and the girls of the RDHS basketball team were cemented. Often, members of both teams were interchangeable, as indicated in the adjacent team photos.

"The (high school) basketball team was equally as conspicuous a champion as the Amazons," Vera pointed out. "The Amazons, on the other hand, were eye-catching because it was an invasion by girls and ladies into a male-dominated sport, and, it had an exceptionally fine streak of good luck."

VERA AND ERIC PIERCE ...teaching passed to farming in 1936

she added, wasn't just an ancient Greek phrase but a way of life for her peers. Pursuing the creed didn't in any way detract from attending school, jobs in shop and farm, after school, and preparing for careers, and participation in other team sports in the off-season.

Surprised the News would be interested in the Amazons, Mrs. Pierce sometimes found it difficult to remember the details and personalities that made up the team's larger-than-life saga. Organized in 1910 as a diversion to relieve the tedium of long Prairie winters, by 1930 the Amazons had become a recognized threat to inter-provincial competition mainly due to team spirit, a sports-oriented community, and a club that was built on generations of smart, healthy, strong girls who were apparently unfazed by the inherent roughness of an (at most) exclusively male domain.

"I was playing ice hockey when I was 13," Mrs. Pierce reflected. "We got to go to Banff that year but I can't recall how the match turned out. It was great fun, though, and a super adventure for the girls."

Preliminaries to the 'adventure'

T. Eaton Co. ladies were the last to feel the weight of the Amazons in a final reckoning of 3-0.

Amazons took the league again in 1935 and capped the win at Banff when right winger Adelyne Stephenson earned the silver medal in ladies 880 speedskating at the inter-provincial Winter Tournament.

Mastery of the game came to an end in a sort of anti-climax when, in March, 1938, the Amazons had out-scored Banff in the semi-finals and were feeling good about the upcoming main event. Possibly because of the Amazons' awesome reputation, the Calgary Chinooks had fortified themselves with an exhaustive training program and at the final tally had steamrolled the Red Deer bunch 5-0.

The Amazons were still in the league in 1939 but could not regain the top berth it had held so steadfastly. The war years also ended this unique league and thereafter women's organized hockey had an indifferent place in the fancy of the fans, or managers.

Only mention of women in hockey today is when a tough-minded girl causes a commotion

Luck might have been an ingredient but the ladies were all uncommon athletes, year-round.

For the last five years the girls who went through school and the teams together have been meeting the third Thursday of June. Their numbers are shrinking due to the attrition rate that can be expected of a complement, many of whom are well into their 70s.

Vera squeezed in practice and play with the Amazons while teaching at Loussana Consolidated, 1931-32. A lack of teaching positions in 1933, due to the onset of the Depression, saw Bid working for a Red Deer florist and acting as teaching substitute whenever she could. In September of that year she was hired by the Grassy Lake School Board and taught there until 1936 when she married Eric Pierce.

The couple settled on the Pierce holdings, founded in 1903, and occupied the house built by her contractor father, Walter Guy Houston. Eric and Vera celebrated their 52nd anniversary, last week.

"Did they ever fight on the ice, those ladies?" asked Eric with some mischief.

"I never saw one," came the prime reply.

"Too bad," rejoined the son of pioneers Mr. and Mrs. Roger Don't believe it for a minute. When Joe Clark appointed Bielish to the Senate in 1979, it is arguable that she was by then the most widely travelled of all Alberta's parliamentarians, Commons or Senate.

She's been a pillar of the international farm women's movement for many years. Try to find a nation without farms, without women, without women who do more than their share of the work. Bielish never did and she's visited an enormous number of them.

That's only one of her several claims to unique status among Alberta's five senators.

She is, of course, the only Conservative.

And the Conservatives, of course are out-numbered 2:1 by the Liberals in the Senate, which throws a very heavy load of committee and other work on to the people on the government side.

Her place in history is secure, too by reason of being Alberta's first female senator.

famous "persons" case originated. In 1929 the British Privy Council finally agreed that women were persons under the law and thus eligible for appointment to the Senate.

Incredibly, such an appointment did not take place from Alberta for a full 50 years. Emily Murphy, Irene Parby, Louise McKinney, Nellie McClung, and Henrietta Edwards gained fame for starting and sticking with the case.

Bielish becomes the sixth name on a historic list for symbolizing, at long last, the completion of an earlier dream in the province where it all started.

She has another, politically unusual, claim to fame. Despite the party differences she was the only senator voluntarily singled out for praise by each one of her colleagues during the conversations I held prior to writing these articles.

They like her and respect her, as she copes with the real frustrations of being a government member in this odd chamber.

They were all angered by a news story a while back, one of those para-ic things that checks senatorial records. Bielish was on the list for non-attendance.

The period of measurement coincided precisely with the illness and death of her husband Joe. She took time off then. Before, though, and since, she has a record of hard work and faithful attendance. She was deeply hurt by the story at the time, but has developed a more philosophical approach lately. Of reporters, she now says:

"They will do what they're going to do; I will do what I must do."

She's a longtime Conservative and ran for the party provincially, and unsuccessfully, in the 1959 election. Earlier she served as a school trustee.

To Bielish, education is the key to everything. She was 18 and the eldest of eight children when her mother died. Even so, she attended both normal school and university.

And if you speak Ukrainian she can answer you in that, although she says she's a bit rusty. Another bilingual Albertan in Ottawa.

This friendly lady, whose resume in work for women was a mile long when many contemporary feminists were born, isn't much better known to Canadians than is her hometown of Warspite, Alta.

Warspite, population 96, is a 90-minute drive northeast from the Edmonton International Airport.

That drive, though, seems long some-thing after the long flight from Ottawa. Martha Bielish comes home three weeks out of four. This week, though, she's in New York, helping represent the government at a United Nations meeting on disarmament.

Quite a trip for this cheerful grandmother of four, particularly when she's one two years shy of the Senate's mandatory retirement age of 75.

PINE LAKE-KATHLEEN M. LAWRENCE

Twelve members were present for the first meeting of the fall season which was opened by president Marion Brown with the recitation of the Creed, and an article entitled Harvest depicting the trials and tribulations of a farm wife during the harvest season.

The home-made jelly project promises to be successful again this year, as a significant amount of juice has been collected, and the making of jelly will start soon. Home-made marmalade will be a new addition to the project when we go to the Parkland Mall Bazaar in early November.

Edna Whitmore read an article from McLean's magazine about a two-year experiment involving eight men and eight women who will live in a specially designed community where nothing can be discarded and everything not used must be recycled.

Isabelle Beck presented her program - Citizenship and Legislation. It was based on an article from the April 1988 Alberta Report re Gary Gavreau, a Ponoka service station owner, who claimed his individual liberty was being threatened when asked to fill out the 1986 Statistics Canada census form. He objected to three of the questions and when taken to court the judge found him not guilty, and he was entitled to refuse to answer the questions. The Federal Justice Department has not decided whether to appeal and insists that decision makers need data on standards of living, etc. to enable them to make intelligent decisions on social programs for the future.

Roll call was for each member to give their reaction to the above article. Do we agree with the judge's decision or not? SEPT.

No one is quite sure how the poppy became associated with Remembrance Day, but it was a Canadian, John McCrae, who immortalized the poppy which became a tribute to the many who gave their lives in WW 1, WW 2 and the Korean War. This was the thought with which president Marion Brown opened the November meeting. In Flanders Fields was repeated in unison, followed by the Creed.

Happy Birthday was sung for Annie Allen on her 91st birthday.

Two members attended the Red Deer Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society's annual meeting and dinner. A pleasant and informative evening was reported.

Annual sale of baking and homemade jelly at the Parkland Mall Bazaar was very successful again this year. Everything was sold and we were packed and ready to go home at 3:30 p.m.

Our annual Christmas supper will be held Dec. 2, at the Hall and each member received a list of duties for the evening.

Marion Brown reported on the educational convener's workshop held in the Ridgewood Hall at which she spoke on further education courses.

Branch members will provide one dozen cookies each for the Red Deer Meals on Wheels Christmas treats.

The branch will consider support of the Delburne and District Lifeline Program, pending further information in the New Year.

Program for the evening was home economics, presented in two parts by Irma Lawrence. First part dealt with "cents-off" coupons which come in the mail, in grocery ads and in women's magazines and the newspapers. Annual value of coupons issued is $2.9 billion with only $86 million or 3.4 per cent being redeemed. We were cautioned not to get into the habit of using coupons unless for a product or service that is normally on our purchase list. Beware of brand names for which coupon is offered. Compare with other brands or generic brands as these could be cheaper.

The second part of Irma's program was a step-by-step demonstration of making a fruit pizza. Irma also conducted an original and unique contest involving members' knowledge of each other. This was based on birthday and anniversary dates and years, numbers and sex of families and grandchildren. It was amazing how little we knew of our "vital statistics." During lunch we were treated to a taste of the completed, delicious pizza.

A quilting workshop is contemplated in the New Year to prepare us to use the pre-cut quilt pieces donated by Beth Smith.

Roll call: Do you use "cents-off" coupons, and if so, what for?

Hostess prize was won by Edna Whitmore. NOV '88

W.I. celebrates 80 years in Alberta

As WI branches reached their seasonal end-of-tether, last month saw plenty of activity, much of it relating to celebration of WIs 80 years in Alberta and the re-dedication, June 24, at Lea Park, near Vermilion, and the Provincial Convention at Olds.

Martha Bielish Sylvia McKinlay
The Lea Park Picnic

The rain stayed away at Lea Park on June 24, 1989 but A.W.I. members certainly didn't! Over 300 members and their families came by car, bus and camper from all over Alberta to participate in the unveiling of the rock commemorating the 80th Anniversary of Alberta Women's Institutes and the first branch in Alberta at Lea Park.

The dignitaries were led onto the 'stage' (actually a flat-bed) by piper Hector Cameron. The singing of O Canada was led by Cheryl Saville accompanied by Diane Chubey on the flute. A flute solo by Mrs. Chubey followed. Beryl Ballhorn, A.W.I. President, introduced the platform guests and greetings were brought by Doug Cherry, M.L.A. for Lloydminster, Mr. Wheat, Deputy Reeve of the County of Vermilion River, and Senator Martha Bielish on behalf of the Federal Government. Histories of Lea Park and W.I. in the early days were given by Gladys Hutchinson of Marwayne and Vera Mead of Princess Anne branch in Vermilion.

The rock was unveiled by Beryl Ballhorn, President; Ruby Ritchie, immediate past District II Director, during whose term of office the idea for the rock began, and Jessie Strome of Vermilion who headed the committee to find a suitable rock and make all arrangements for it to be moved and made ready for the unveiling.

An 80th Anniversary Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Bob Snelgrove of Vermilion, who has given a great deal of his time to move and set up the rock and to mount the plaque on it. A small token of appreciation from A.W.I. was also presented to him.

FIRST WOMEN'S INSTITUTE IN ALBERTA

THE FIRST BRANCH OF THE ALBERTA WOMEN'S INSTITUTES WAS FORMED AT LEA PARK ON FEB. 3, 1909 BY MRS. HUGH GRAHAM AND MRS. JOHN JOHNSON WITH 38 MEMBERS FROM THE TRING, KITSICOTY, MARWAYNE, DEWBERRY AND RIVERTON AREAS. THE AIMS AND IDEALS OF THE ORGANIZATION SPREAD RAPIDLY THROUGHOUT ALBERTA, AND BY 1918 FULLY 212 BRANCHES COULD BOAST 8,000 MEMBERS. EARLY PROJECTS INCLUDED LOCAL HOSPITALS, MATERNITY HOMES, COMMUNITY HALLS, LIBRARIES, CEMETERIES AND REST ROOMS. VAST SUMS OF MONEY WERE RAISED AND THOUSANDS OF ITEMS OF CLOTHING AND HOSPITAL SUPPLIES WERE SENT OVERSEAS DURING THE TWO WORLD WARS.

WHEN ADELAIDE HOODLESS FOUNDED THE WORLD'S FIRST WOMEN'S INSTITUTE IN ONTARIO IN 1897 SHE BELIEVED THIS ORGANIZATION COULD HELP WOMEN IMPROVE THEIR STANDARDS OF HOMEMAKING AND CITIZENSHIP. UNDER THEIR MOTTO, 'FOR HOME AND COUNTRY' MEMBERS OF THE ALBERTA WOMEN'S INSTITUTES CONTINUE TO WORK FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THEIR HOMES AND COMMUNITIES, THEIR COUNTRY AND THE WORLD.

ERECTED IN 1989 TO COMMEMORATE THE 80th ANNIVERSARY OF ALBERTA WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

Moms say child care means safe kids

RED DEER — If Connie Hansen is on the combine, she doesn't need the added worry that a small child might run in her way.

Hansen and other women attending the Alberta Farm Women's conference at Red Deer want rural day care. More of them are working with their husbands on the family farm, doing the job a hired man once did. What to do with the kids during peak farm seasons is constantly on their minds.

Shirley McClelland, the Chinook MLA, said she has prepared a motion dealing with rural child care to be raised at the next legislative session in mid-February.

Child care was an issue at the Alberta Farm Women's Network conference.

Eleven members and two visitors were present at the January meeting at which Mrs. Faye Hughes, Regional Co-ordinator for the Life-line Program, showed slides and gave a hands-on demonstration of how the Life-line program operates. A small personal help button is worn on a chain around the neck or on a strap on the wrist. At any time of the day or night when help is needed the button is pressed to send out a call for help. The button activates the home unit which is attached to the telephone which in turn automatically dials the Emergency Response Centre. Trained personnel at the E.R.S. contact the home and begin the procedure of sending the appropriate kind of help.

Mrs. Hughes was suitably thanked by Social Service Convener Edna Whittemore.

In recognition of Founder's Day and the 80th Anniversary of Alberta Women's Institutes our Branch will join with Hillsdown W.I. in a special meeting on February 14.

The annual Heart Fund Card Party will be held in the Hall on February 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Our Environment Convener, with the help of other members, will reply to a phone call from the Advocate re the proposed Sanitary Landfill site on land 4 km north of Pine Lake.

Roll-call for January was Used Christmas cards and calendar pictures for Michener Centre.

The draw for the Australian gift was won by Doris Warke and the hostess prize was won by Vera Pierce.

W.I. tribute to the farm

Pine Lake WI expresses Valentine's Day differently. At their recent meeting president Marion Brown, perhaps liberally paraphrasing Elizabeth Barrett Browning, put it this way:

"Valentine's Day is here, and I love this farm for better or worse, for richer or poorer in summer or winter. When do I love this farm? Let me list the times.

I love this farm in winter when everything is dormant, hidden calves growing within the cows and fields resting under the snow.

I love this farm in spring when all is revealed once more, and the cows give birth to calves and the barren fields get sprouts of green.

I love this farm in summer when all is reaching its prime and the calves are getting fat and the alfalfa is in bloom.

I love this farm in fall when we reap the rich rewards, and the calves are converted to cash and the alfalfa becomes bales of hay.

I love this farm all year long as it repeats its cycle endlessly but never twice the same—birth to fruition to new birth.

Happy Valentine's Day, farm. I love you."

Lake contamination feared

As a member of the Pine Lake Women's Institute, one of the areas of study is environmental conservation.

Branch members have been involved in the past and have expressed concern regarding unmanaged landfill, roadside spraying, lake water quality and roadside litter. Branch mandate has been to recycle products such as paper, tin cans, and bottles. We support our provincial body, Alberta Women's Institutes, through their involvement in the pitch-in program.

Since our motto is, For Home and Country, Pine Lake Women's Institute members express their concern of the implementation of the proposed regional sanitary landfill at the head of the drainage system into Pine Lake. We fear the possibility of contaminated seepage into the system may ruin Pine Lake for future generations.

Thirteen Pine Lake members, five Hillsdown members, ten visitors and two children were welcomed to the special meeting commemorating Founder's Day recognizing the 80th anniversary of AWI.

The creed was repeated and each WI member introduced their guest.

The letter to the Advocate re: the landfill site was composed and delivered but subsequently returned for lack of a phone number. It was re-delivered and a suggestion made that a copy be sent to the Minister of the Environment and to the County.

Members voted to pay $250 toward the cost of a Life-line unit to be used by Delbourne Life-line Program Board.

It was reported the used Christmas cards and calendar pictures sent to Michener Centre were much appreciated.

One quilt work bee was held and Doris Warke displayed the results.

Two members have been registered for the District 3 Conference at the North Hill Inn on March 8-9.

Certificates of recognition were presented to each WI member as a token of appreciation for their contribution to Home and Country on the occasion of the 80th anniversary of AWI. Pat Ancion, Pine Lake Hub executive member, made the presentation, congratulating and expressing appreciation to each member for their contribution to the betterment of the respective communities.

Hillsdown WI was organized in 1946 and Pine Lake WI in 1956. Pictures were taken of members and guests.

Constituency Convener Grace Grover, introduced by Marion Brown, reviewed the new 80th anniversary brochures of AWI, and cited the many activities taking place this year. Highlights of these are the Provincial 80th Anniversary Convention at Olds in June and the unveiling of a cairn at Lea Park in July on the site of the first Women's Institute in Alberta.

A fun-filling half hour was spent making homemade Valentines. The resulting creations were used as part of the decorations for the Valentine Dance at the Hall.

Hillsdown WI and Pine Lake WI agreed to unite to compile a set of 40 pictures to enter in the Get Gracking—Get Snapping Competition, an agricultural project.

The hostess gift was won by Pat Ancion.

Members will assist the midnight lunch for the 40th wedding anniversary dance for Gordon and Isabelle Beck and the 25th wedding anniversary dance for Jack and Gayle Olson.

In recognition of AWI's 80th anniversary the branch will purchase an AWI 80 anniversary pin for each member.

The evening program was presented by Isabelle Beck whose topic was senate reform. Our guests were welcomed as new members.

Hostess gift was won by Kathleen Lawrence.

Pine Lake member goes to Pine Lake Women's Institute member Marion Brown will be off on a great adventure, this March.

Mrs. Brown will join 12 other farm women from Ontario, Saskatchewan, and Alberta on the Oxfam Farmers' Brigade tour of Nicaragua. The Women in Agriculture Study Tour will be hosted, in the Central American country, by the women's section of the National Union of Ranchers and Farmers.

Objectives of the tour are to develop awareness of Nicaragua; discover, in-depth, the lifestyles of the country's women and build links between rural women and their respective organizations in both countries.

A charter member of Pine Lake WI, Mrs. Brown is also a life member of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Nicaragua

Canadian Farm Women's Tour

I returned from Nicaragua in March. I participated in the first Canadian farm all-women's study tour. Twelve women from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario took part in this Oxfam Farmers Brigade Project. We ranged in age from 26-58 years - 7 married, 5 unmarried - and represented farm production in grains, beef, dairy, pigs, sheep, vegetables, and honey. In addition two women were farm reporters, one woman a soil researcher, and one woman worked with abused women and children.

We became a close knit group as we tried to achieve our tour objectives of developing an awareness of Nicaragua, especially an in-depth look into the lives of the Nicaraguan women, and building links of understanding and trust.

Our first introduction to Nicaragua was March 8, 1989 with our attendance by invitation to "International Women's Day" Women met for a day long meeting. Discussion centered around accomplishments, problems and total concern and hope for a better future in a peaceful land. In the afternoon, President Daniel Ortega arrived with his department heads and answered the women's concerns. The day culminated as women who had marched through Managua and those at the indoor meeting joined forces and filled an outdoor park to overflowing. Again, President Ortega addressed the large assembly stressing unity and co-operation to rebuild their war torn nation.

After another day and one half in which we learned more of the women's farm organization and the Agrarian Reform, we left the city of Managua to travel north into the smaller cities and countryside. We all felt good about getting into the rural areas to meet farmers at the grass roots level. How privileged we were to meet private farmers, small private landowners farming collectively owning land, and farm labourers! Many farm families had been displaced by war and were forced to move to safer areas. Groups were formed for protection, many had been laborers for large land owners, with absentee landlords, unused land was given to the landless and they were given an opportunity to produce and share in the production.

Time after time women told us of their struggle, and hardship during the terrible time of war. We felt very humble and touched by their trust in us as they told their personal stories. They were warm, loving and determined people. They carry their reconstruction of their nation in spite of a severe economic struggle, poverty, lack of health care, and lack of education opportunities. 60% of households are headed by women and lack of day care centers makes women's work very difficult.

Peace negotiations are in progress. Most of all the Nicaraguans want peace with no interference from any outside source. Let us as Women's Institute members promote justice for all so that their dream can come true!

Sincerely - E. Marion Brown
President, Pine Lake W.I.

CONVENTION

Pride in our Past
Faith in our Future

JUNE 5-8, 1989

OLDS COLLEGE — OLDS, ALBERTA

AWI keeps changing with challenges

OLDS, Alta. (Staff) — Alberta Women's Institutes president Beryl Ballhorn sees her organization as a dynamic group that makes things happen.

In a report to the AWI annual convention she said, "we are now at a different time and age. We must meet the challenges of today."

Ballhorn, who is going into the last year of a three-year term as AWI president, described in an interview the modernization of the institute.

"We as women have to be more confident of our own abilities. We have to recognize in ourselves that we have a lot of talents and a lot of abilities."

In the 80 years of its existence, the women's institute has transformed from an organization that taught homemaking skills and handicrafts into an effective voice for health and child care, environmental protection and farm safety. Through their committee work, many members have become experts in those fields and deserve more appreciation for their ability, she said.

Recognizing the need to attract more young women, the AWI has expanded its program. A new branch has been set up to accommodate women working outside the home, she said. Evening meetings and weekend activities are offered, along with a wider range of projects to maintain the institute's aims of learning and enrichment of its members.

A program unique to this province is the Alberta Women's Institutes Girls' Clubs, with 170 members in 11 clubs. Personal enrichment programs of music, handicrafts and public speaking are offered to girls between six and 18. This branch of the AWI will be celebrating its 70th anniversary this summer.

Another AWI project of which Ballhorn is proud is the provision of three bursaries to Olds, Lakeland and Fairview Colleges which are awarded to a student selected by each college.

A new AWI project, funded by a $39,000 grant from the provincial government, will be a public speaking training program.

Pine Lake W.I.: In August, nine members and three visitors enjoyed a day tour to the Innisfail Museum, Markerville with lunch at the Old Creamery, and a visit to the Stephansson House. Four members attended the A.W.I. 80th Anniversary Picnic at Lee Park.

Guest speaker for the September meeting was Education Convener, Gayle Olson, who spoke on the new 5 year general science course offered in High Schools as alternate to University pre-requisite Chemistry, Biology and Physics Courses. Her concern is "Do we trust these watered-down courses?"

Pine Lake W.I. is interested in having a representative on the Delburne Lifeline Program. Canadian Red Cross in Red Deer has acknowledged the receipt of $42 from the sale of knitting from our group.

Handicraft Convener, Lillie Clutton, by means of slides and commentary, introduced us to Samplers and their origin. Girls learned the art at an early age and her name was always incorporated into the design which ins many examples appeared to be original. Stitching was usually done on linen, cotton or wool with appropriate border design and fringe. Samplers were designed as family histories, memorials or announcements, etc. Pennies for Friendship amounted to $15.26.

Thirty person attended the evening of Nicaraguan slides presented by Marion Brown. A typical Nicaraguan working man's meal was served for lunch. It consisted of boiled rice and pinto beans eaten with tortilla chips, very sweet coffee served from an iron pot or koolade in a plastic bag and drunk straight from the bag. No cutlery or utensils of any kind were provided.

"I've fought the worms and sprayed the bugs.

I've stamped on ants and drowned the slugs.

I've battled hailstones, birds and breezes.

And made it through the late spring freezes.

I've curbed my dear dog's digging habits.

But now, Oh my! Hare come the rabbits."

Four WI constituencies were represented at the annual coffee party when 71 persons signed the guest book. The local art club's display of paintings and our own handicraft display was an added feature of the morning's activities. Greta Fiske's name was drawn for the Pine Lake Cookbook donated by Beth Smith, and Audrey Murphy was the recipient of the Fuchsia plant donated by Millie Munro. Lillie Clutton, AWI Provincial Convention delegate, was proud to announce that Edna Whittemore won a first for her painting for which she received a Special Award Certificate and two coffee mugs given by Beryl Bailhorn, AWI president.

Grass at the Centennial Corner has been cut and blue and white petunias planted.

Members voted to donate $20 to the ACWW 60th anniversary fund.

We will enter in the Group of Five at the Westerner Creative Arts Fair. A shower will be organized for bride-elect Betty-Anne Clutton. A booth has been booked for the Parkland Mall bazaar in November.

Program for June was Health, given by Wanda Andrews and was presented in four parts: (a) The Ethics of Human Reproduction (artificial insemination, invitro fertilization, embryo transplant and surrogate parenting) are raising ethical, legal and moral questions which society is hard-pressed to resolve, (b) April is Organ Transplant Month, a time to consider using the Organ Donor Card which is included on all Alberta driver's licenses; (c) Cholesterol Controversy. Recent studies at Harvard and the University of Edinburgh suggest only minimal advantages in following a low cholesterol program; (d) Which color goes with which mood? Red stimulates and energizes. Orange stimulates the senses. Yellow uplifts. Blue soothes. Green promotes healing. Brown suggests practicality. Purple is worldly, suggesting power and strength.
